Nixon Aide Hired Liddy, Hunt ...

Watergate Duo Broke Into Office Of Doctor

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Newly resigned presidential aide John D. Ehrlichman told the FBI that he hired Watergate conspirators G. Gordon Liddy and E. Howard Hunt to investigate the Pentagon papers case and learned later they broke into the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist. It was disclosed Tuesday.

U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne, presiding over the trial of Ellsberg and Anthony Russo, revealed the statement that Ehrlichman made to the FBI last Friday. The defense attorneys immediately moved for dismissal of the case and Byrne took the motion under advisement.

The FBI interview quotes Ehrlichman as saying that President Nixon designated him in 1971 "to make inquiries independent of a concurrent FBI investigation which had been made relating to the leak of the Pentagon papers." Ellsberg was indicted in June 1971, on charges of espionage, conspiracy and theft.

Ehrlichman told agents that Nixon "had expressed interest in the problem of unauthorized disclosures of classified government information."

The report added that, according to Ehrlichman, "a decision was made" to conduct some investigation in the Pentagon papers leak matter "directly out of the White House." G. Gordon Liddy and E. Howard Hunt were designated to conduct the investigation.

Ehrlichman told the FBI he learned of the burglary afterward and told Hunt and Liddy "not to do this again."

Ehrlichman said he knew the two men were traveling to California to "follow up leads," including word that "there was information available that Ellsberg had emotional and moral problems and Liddy and Hunt sought to determine full facts relating to these conduct traits."

Ehrlichman was interviewed by the FBI the same day Byrne made public a Justice Department memo revealing that Liddy and Hunt had allegedly burglarized Ellsberg's psychiatrist's office. Byrne ordered an investigation launched that day. Nixon announced Ehrlichman's resignation Monday.

Ellsberg's chief defense attorney, Leonard Boudin, expressing outrage at the revelation Tuesday, called it "one of the most extraordinary invasions of individual privacy."

"If this kind of thing can be done here and there is no deterrent so that an adviser to the President will not do this again," said Boudin, "then the administration of justice in this country is lost."

Referring to the FBI report as "this dreadful document," Boudin asked the judge to immediately dismiss the indictment against Ellsberg and Russo. He said that jurors should be summoned to the court and told "why this indictment should be dismissed — the shame of the government of the United States."

Ellsberg said the FBI documents prove the White House tried to "bribe" Judge Byrne by offering to make him FBI director. He told newsmen the White House offered Byrne the FBI directorship in hopes he would reciprocate by hiding evidence that links the Pentagon papers case with Watergate conspirators.

Ellsberg said the document called into question whether President Nixon had "ordered this whole process of criminal activity" and added "This document points directly to the indictment of the President."

At mid-afternoon, Asst. U.S. Atty. David Nissen turned over more reports to the judge and asked that Byrne stop making public the continuing discoveries in the investigation. He said he feared that persons being questioned by government investigators will refuse to cooperate if all statements are immediately "on the front pages of the newspapers."

Byrne said he does not intend to change the procedure he has been using — examining documents, first privately, then making them public when he gives them to the defense team.

Dewey, Roper And Goldenstein Win Election To School Board

Ted Dewey won re-election and Louis Roper and Pearl Goldenstein were elected to the Board of Education in Tuesday's balloting.

Dewey, who was appointed to the board last fall to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Robert Magee, was the biggest vote getter in all contests with 15,631.

Roper tallied 13,431 and Mrs. Goldenstein 12,722 beat out her nearest rival by over 2,500 votes.

Both Dewey and Roper are bankers. Mrs. Goldenstein, now a housewife, is a former teacher, school administrator and State Department of Education consultant.

The other candidates' totals were Wallace Rudolph, 10,212; Martin Dinsmore, 9,869; and Robert Rauch, 7,938.

The three winners join School Board holdovers Catherine Anle, John Lux and Marvin Stewart.

There were few clearly defined issues in the campaign although Dinsmore repeatedly suggested that experimental programs should be more cautiously approached.

Rauch was somewhat critical of the school district's drug education programs, suggesting the offerings needed to be more comprehensive.

Airport Board Wins Automatic

Two Airport Authority incumbents faced no opposition in Tuesday's general election and were automatically elected to serve six more years.

Contractor Joe Hampton, 47, of 2031 Greenbriar, and businessman Robert Phillips, 52, of 1910 Surfside Dr. also were unopposed in the April 3 primary.

Plans for the controversial Gerald Gentleman Power Plant at Sutherland huddled another stumbling block Tuesday as Nebraska Public Power District was granted authority to divert water from Lake McConaughy and the North and South Platte Rivers to cool the plant's 650-megawatt generators.

The approval of NPPD's application by the Department of Water Resources came over the objections of the Platte Valley Irrigation District which argued that 10,000-12,000 acre-feet per year of water would be lost through excessive evaporation.

In joining the irrigators' protest, the Platte Valley Sierra Club also warned that an anticipated 20-degree rise in the water temperature from the plant would kill much of the wildlife downstream.

Dan Jones Jr., Water Resources director, ruled that NPPD can use the water partly because NPPD is already allowed to use much of it for

Election Plan, Road Proposal Defeated

Lincolinites who went to the polls Tuesday rejected the two charter amendments — but endorsed a third.

Defeated were amendments setting roadway procedures and setting election of council members by district, but narrowly approved was a pay hike for the city lawmakers.

Voters rejected the controversial Amendment No. 2 on roadway planning by a 61.6% to 38.3% margin, with 15,610 against, to 9,706 in favor.

The amendment called for reconsideration of existing major street and road projects by requiring specific planning procedures be outlined in the Charter.

No such project could be started unless there was a unanimous vote of the council, or failing that, a majority vote of the people.

The question was placed on Tuesday's ballot through an initiative petition drive spearheaded by the Coalition Against the Radial. Vigorous opposition to the amendment came from Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf, the City Council Chamber of Commerce, former mayors and councilmen and a host of other groups.

The district election amendment lost 55.5% to 44.4%, with a vote of 14,059 against to 11,261 in favor.

The issue arose when Lincoln state senators introduced LB448 in the Legislature to force Lincoln to elect its law makers by district.

To forestall legislative action on the matter the City Council opted to place the question on the ballot in order to let the people decide.

Lincolinites approved by a 77% vote margin the increase in salaries to not more than $4,000 annually. City lawmakers currently are paid up to a maximum of $1,040 yearly.

The vote was 12,905 in favor and 12,632 against, a 50.5%-49.4% split.

A 14,000 figure was defeated by only eight votes last month in the primary election, while a $5,000 figure was rejected in the November, 1972, general election.

Mrs. Bailey said she was "just finishing the dishes" when she found out she will be Lincoln's second councilwoman.

"I think a candidate is willing to take some personal credit for winning," she commented, adding, "but I didn't run on credit — I ran on the issues."

require another application to the Department of Water Resources.

The Sierra Club also contended that the 2,000-megawatt plant would pollute the Sutherland Reservoir and Lake Maloney with "excessive" emissions of mercury, thus destroying their recreational value.

Jones replied that no applications have been made to cool a 2,000 megawatt-plant and added that the Water Resources Department has no jurisdiction over mercury emissions.

"The possible adverse effects of mercury emissions and increased water temperatures are matters to be settled between the applicant and those authorities having jurisdiction in that field," Jones said.

NPPD has scheduled the official ground-breaking for the $190-million coal-burning plant for May 25. The plant which NPPD officials say is essential to meet future power needs, has drawn fire from farm, outdoor and nature groups on air, water and thermal pollution problems the plant may create.

Shift In Council Policy Possible

... On Zoning Matters

By LYNN ZERSCHLING
Star Staff Writer

Sue Bailey, John Robinson and Max Denney were elected to the City Council in balloting Tuesday which saw slightly over a third of the registered voters go to the polls.

Only 33.7% of the registered 79,460 voters turned out to cast ballots for City Council, Board of Education and Airport Authority seats, plus vote on three charter amendments.

A total of 26,825 Lincolinites went to the polls in sloppy, un-spring like weather. Yet to be counted are 286 disabled and absentee ballots.

The turnout exceeded the April 3 primary vote which saw only 24.9% of the registered voters go to the polls.

The top council vote-getter in both the primary and general elections was Mrs. Bailey, 49, a housewife.

Senior law student Robinson, 29, ran second in both races, just edging out attorney Denney, 58, who moved up to third place after finishing fifth in the primary.

Trailing in the council race were Attorney William Thierstein, retired Public Safety Director Emmett Jung and businesswoman Nancy Childs.

The election of Mrs. Bailey and Robinson to the seven-member body could result in a substantial change in recent council policy on zoning decisions.

The present council has gained the reputation of being a "liberal" body on zoning matters.

However, both Robinson and Mrs. Bailey campaigned on stricter interpretation of zoning laws and a greater adherence to recommendations of the City-County Planning Commission and neighborhood organizations.

The novices could join veteran Councilwoman Helen Boosalis and Councilman Steve Cook in changing the majority vote on the council on such zoning questions.

The vote total with all precincts reporting were Mrs. Bailey, 15,094 (20.4%); Robinson, 13,688 (18.5%); Denney, 13,518 (18.3%); Thierstein, 11,922 (16.1%); Jung, 10,607 (14.3%); Mrs. Childs, 8,975 (12.1%).

Mrs. Bailey said she was "just finishing the dishes" when she found out she will be Lincoln's second councilwoman.

FBI Guards Watergate Files At White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI agents were dispatched to the White House Tuesday to guard Watergate-related files kept in the offices of departing officials.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said an around-the-clock safeguarding procedure was begun "to physically protect" various White House documents.

Sources said President Nixon's top aides H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman culled through government files before they resigned.

That disclosure came amid a flurry of other developments in the day after Nixon's speech to the nation on the case.

Nixon met with his Cabinet as part of the effort to get his Watergate-rocked administration back on course. While Ziegler said in advance the agenda was made up of "important things that lie ahead," the White House would not disclose what was discussed at the 30-minute meeting.

Nixon was understood to have outlined interim staff arrangements at the White House, pending replacement of the resigned top aides.

After the Cabinet meeting, Nixon met for an hour in his Oval Office with Vice President Spiro T. Agnew. In discussing the meeting, a White House spokesman would not disclose what was discussed describing it only as a private meeting. This apparently was the first time since December Nixon and Agnew had held such an extensive discussion.

Sources predicted that the Haldeman and Ehrlichman resignations will bring major changes in the White House staff structure. One source said Nixon would announce the shuffle next week.

In the Pentagon Papers' trial in Los Angeles, U.S. District Judge Matt Byrne said Ehrlichman told FBI agents he knew that Watergate conspirators had broken into the office of defendant Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist. Ellsberg's attorney moved for a mistrial.

The Senate voted to call on Nixon to appoint a special prosecutor from outside the government to oversee the Watergate investigation. The President in his speech Monday night said appointment of a special supervising prosecutor was up to Atty. Gen. designate Elliot L. Richardson.

Sen. Carl T. Curtis and others suggested Nixon call on former Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., to oversee the probe. Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., cautioned that Richardson had close ties to prominent Watergate figures, just as did resigned Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst.

Kleindienst told an ABC reporter in New York he feels the Justice Department can prosecute without outside help but conceded "that might be in the offing."

The federal grand jury on Watergate heard from "a very important witness," according to assistant prosecutor Seymour Glazer. He declined to identify the witness, saying "the important people who come before a grand jury are never the important people in the headlines." He said the probe has been intensified.

Jeb Stuart Magruder, who reportedly implicated former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell and former White House counsel John W. Dean III in the planning of the Watergate break-in, refused to answer questions at a deposition-taking in connection with multimillion dollar civil suits Sheldon Cohen, attorney for Democrats in the suits, said Magruder's lawyer told him Magruder "appeared before the grand jury and might have to appear again. There will be indictments and I have instructed him not to testify." Meanwhile, James McCord Jr., was questioned for some five hours by Cohen his third day of depositions.

The Haldeman-Ehrlichman search for documentation began days prior to Nixon's acceptance Monday of their resignations as his closest advisers, sources said.

It apparently was prompted by continuing news accounts linking them to the Watergate swirl and was accelerated after reports that John W. Dean III, fired Monday by Nixon as presidential counsel, was ready to turn over to investigators certain documents relating to an alleged White House coverup of Watergate involvement.

Haldeman and Ehrlichman were seen leaving the White House Tuesday morning carrying stacks of documents. They rode off in an undisclosed destination in the back seat of a White House limousine.

Not long afterwards, it became known that Nixon's Watergate investigators had ordered that FBI agents be posted around the clock at the offices of Haldeman, Ehrlichman and Dean and other locations where Watergate-related files are kept.

The move was made, Ziegler said, "to physically protect the files to make sure that access and removal of any files were supervised in accordance with very strict procedure."

Elaborating later, Ziegler said the resigned White House aides still have access to files in their offices but that whenever files are removed an FBI agent must be present to record the action.

A former aide to presidential chief of staff H. R. Haldeman has been quoted in transcripts of grand jury testimony as saying Haldeman kept $350,000 more in secret its spending, reportedly involving around $10 million, from before last April 7. That is the date a new law required public reporting.

1997, 1998, 1999, 2000, 2001, 2002, 2003, 2004, 2005, 2006, 2007, 2008, 2009, 2010, 2011, 2012, 2013, 2014, 2015, 2016, 2017, 2018, 2019, 2020, 2021, 2022, 2023, 2024, 2025, 2026, 2027, 2028, 2029, 2030, 2031, 2032, 2033, 2034, 2035, 2036, 2037, 2038, 2039, 2040, 2041, 2042, 2043, 2044, 2045, 2046, 2047, 2048, 2049, 2050, 2051, 2052, 2053, 2054, 2055, 2056, 2057, 2058, 2059, 2060, 2061, 2062, 2063, 2064, 2065, 2066, 2067, 2068, 2069, 2070, 2071, 2072, 2073, 2074, 2075, 2076, 2077, 2078, 2079, 2080, 2081, 2082, 2083, 2084, 2085, 2086, 2087, 2088, 2089, 2090, 2091, 2092, 2093, 2094, 2095, 2096, 2097, 2098, 2099, 2100, 2101, 2102, 2103, 2104, 2105, 2106, 2107, 2108, 2109, 2110, 2111, 2112, 2113, 2114, 2115, 2116, 2117, 2118, 2119, 2120, 2121, 2122, 2123, 2124, 2125, 2126, 2127, 2128, 2129, 2130, 2131, 2132, 2133, 2134, 2135, 2136, 2137, 2138, 2139, 2140, 2141, 2142, 2143, 2144, 2145, 2146, 2147, 2148, 2149, 2150, 2151, 2152, 2153, 2154, 2155, 2156, 2157, 2158, 2159, 2160, 2161, 2162, 2163, 2164, 2165, 2166, 2167, 2168, 2169, 2170, 2171, 2172, 2173, 2174, 2175, 2176, 2177, 2178, 2179, 2180, 2181, 2182, 2183, 2184, 2185, 2186, 2187, 2188, 2189, 2190, 2191, 2192, 2193, 2194, 2195, 2196, 2197, 2198, 2199, 2200, 2201, 2202, 2203, 2204, 2205, 2206, 2207, 2208, 2209, 2210, 2211, 2212, 2213, 2214, 2215, 2216, 2217, 2218, 2219, 2220, 2221, 2222, 2223, 2224, 2225, 2226, 2227, 2228, 2229, 2230, 2231, 2232, 2233, 2234, 2235, 2236, 2237, 2238, 2239, 2240, 2241, 2242, 2243, 2244, 2245, 2246, 2247, 2248, 2249, 2250, 2251, 2252, 2253, 2254, 2255, 2256, 2257, 2258, 2259, 2260, 2261, 2262, 2263, 2264, 2265, 2266, 2267, 2268, 2269, 2270, 2271, 2272, 2273, 2274, 2275, 2276, 2277, 2278, 2279, 2280, 2281, 2282, 2283, 2284, 2285, 2286, 2287, 2288, 2289, 2290, 2291, 2292, 2293, 2294, 2295, 2296, 2297, 2298, 2299, 2300, 2301, 2302, 2303, 2304, 2305, 2306, 2307, 2308, 2309, 2310, 2311, 2312, 2313, 2314, 2315, 2316, 2317, 2318, 2319, 2320, 2321, 2322, 2323, 2324, 2325, 2326, 2327, 2328, 2329, 2330, 2331, 2332, 2333, 2334, 2335, 2336, 2337, 2338, 2339, 2340, 2341, 2342, 2343, 2344, 2345, 2346, 2347, 2348, 2349, 2350, 2351, 2352, 2353, 2354, 2355, 2356, 2357, 2358, 2359, 2360, 2361, 2362, 2363, 2364, 2365, 2366, 2367, 2368, 2369, 2370, 2371, 2372, 2373, 2374, 2375, 2376, 2377, 2378, 2379, 2380, 2381, 2382, 2383, 2384, 2385, 2386, 2387, 2388, 2389, 2390, 2391, 2392, 2393, 2394, 2395, 2396, 2397, 2398, 2399, 2400, 2401, 2402, 2403, 2404, 2405, 2406, 2407, 2408, 2409, 2410, 2411, 2412, 2413, 2414, 2415, 2416, 2417, 2418, 2419, 2420, 2421, 2422, 2423, 2424, 2425, 2426, 2427, 2428, 2429, 2430, 2431, 2432, 2433, 2434, 2435, 2436, 2437, 2438, 2439, 2440, 2441, 2442, 2443, 2444, 2445, 2446, 2447, 2448, 2449, 2450, 2451, 2452, 2453, 2454, 2455, 2456, 2457, 2458, 2459, 2460, 2461, 2462, 2463, 2464, 2465, 2466, 2467, 2468, 2469, 2470, 2471, 2472, 2473, 2474, 2475, 2476, 2477, 2478, 2479, 2480, 2481, 2482, 2483, 2484, 2485, 2486, 2487, 2488, 2489, 2490, 2491, 2492, 2493, 2494, 2495, 2496, 2497, 2498, 2499, 2500, 2501, 2502, 2503, 2504, 2505, 2506, 2507, 2508, 2509, 2510, 2511, 2512, 2513, 2514, 2515, 2516, 2517, 2518, 2519, 2520, 2521, 2522, 2523, 2524, 2525, 2526, 2527, 2528, 2529, 2530, 2531, 2532, 2533, 2534, 2535, 2536, 2537, 2538, 2539, 2540, 2541, 2542, 2543, 2544, 2545, 2546, 2547, 2548, 2549, 2550, 2551, 2552, 2553, 2554, 2555, 2556, 2557, 2558, 2559, 2560, 2561, 2562, 2563, 2564, 2565, 2566, 2567, 2568, 2569, 2570, 2571, 2572, 2573, 2574, 2575, 2576, 2577, 2578, 2579, 2580, 2581, 2582, 2583, 2584, 2585, 2586, 2587, 2588, 2589, 2590, 2591, 2592, 2593, 2594, 2595, 2596, 2597, 2598, 2599, 2600, 2601, 2602, 2603, 2604, 2605, 2606, 2607, 2608, 2609, 2610, 2611, 2612, 2613, 2614, 2615, 2616, 2617, 2618, 2619, 2620, 2621, 2622, 2623, 2624, 2625, 2626, 2627, 2628, 2629, 2630, 2631, 2632, 2633, 2634, 2635, 2636, 2637, 2638, 2639, 2640, 2641, 2642, 2643, 2644, 2645, 2646, 2647, 2648, 2649, 2650, 2651, 2652, 2653, 2654, 2655, 2656, 2657, 2658, 2659, 2660, 2661, 2662, 2663, 2664, 2665, 2666, 2667, 2668, 2669, 2670, 2671, 2672, 2673, 2674, 2675, 2676, 2677, 2678, 26

A representative delivered $200,000 in cash to the Nixon campaign last year, and reportedly asked for "help."

Assuming the President indeed was deceived by his advisers—and investigators say as yet they have turned up no evidence to the contrary—the big question remains: How could the President of the United States allow himself to be taken in on such important matters? And what else didn't they tell him?

Washington (UPI) — President Nixon gave West German Chancellor Willy Brandt a relaxed, informal White House welcome Tuesday and they immediately began two days of talks.

When asked about another Post account on Oct. 16, Ziegler said, "I will not dignify with comment stories based on hearsay, character assassination, innuendo, guilt by association."

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

In a plain-spoken interview recently in the Omaha World-Herald, Congressman John McCollister was emphatic about the President's cleaning house of all those associated with the Watergate affair. Then, as to the entire episode, he had this to say:

"I'm surprised nobody recognized that surely some responsibility for all this had to be charged to the growth and influence of government in everything we do. When we delegate to government to do so many things, we run the risk always of the failure of upright people to do that which the situation requires. Sooner or later, people must understand that government can't do everything for them. If they expect that, they are asking for a lot of trouble in a lot of things."

If people in general attach that kind of conclusion to the Watergate affair, they will be making a serious mistake. What about the failure of upright people to do that which the situation requires?

The sentence or statement is a contradictory one. If the individual is upright, he will do what the situation requires of him. If he doesn't, he is not upright.

What McCollister is saying is that if you give people too much opportunity for wrong-doing, they will do wrong. If that is the case, humanity can assume it has arrived at a pretty sad state of affairs.

It is easy to keep your hand out of the cash register when the head bookkeeper or owner of the place is looking over your shoulder. It is a little more demanding of you to keep your hand out when nobody is looking.

According to McCollister, everyone is basically a crook of some kind, since given the opportunity to do wrong, he will do it. His reasoning about the bigness of government and criminal activity is just as ridiculous.

The size of the government hasn't anything to do with it. The government was just as big under Lyndon Johnson as it is under Nixon, but there was no Watergate under Johnson.

Nor is wrong-doing a unique mark of the government. In a story recently, the Wall Street Journal wrote:

"The Equity Funding scandal is far more massive than anyone has yet suspected. It involves more than $120 million in non-existent assets. It is centered in the parent corporation itself, not a subsidiary. And it has been going on since 1964."

That story goes on to tell about phony customers, phony assets, phony shares, phony loan accounts and a generally massive structure of multi-million-dollar phony operations in a private corporation.

Remember the salad oil scandals of the 1960's? That was private enterprise cheating the government out of a fortune. How about the parade of income tax evasion cases against private business and individuals that take place almost routinely every year? How about the murder and big payoffs that have tainted the image of big organized labor?

What about the false advertising claims that are made by some of the leading drug manufacturers of the nation? No, unethical and criminal conduct isn't a mark of government, big or little; it is a mark of dishonest men and women.

What we need is not less government, but rather, more people of unqualified integrity in it. And we need them throughout our society. If we go about looking for scapegoats and rationalizing the wrongs that happen with phony political philosophies, as McCollister has done, we will have less, not more of that essential integrity.

PHYLLIS BATTELLE

Beard-Wearing Fad Goes Back In Time

NEW YORK — Beards, which are such a facial fashion in recent years, have slunk out of style while no one was looking. You might say they folded their follicles and silently shaved away.

According to an old friend of ours, Jim Winchester, it was bound to happen. Beards come along as a male fad every few generations, but there always are and apparently always have been more clean-shaven periods in history than hairy ones. And that truism goes back 60,000 years.

Winchester made a thorough study of face styles for a science report and discovered that cave drawings from the era of earliest man shows that males even then were clean shaven. It is presumed by historians that they used sharpened shark's teeth or possibly clam shells to scrape the fur from their faces.

Why the shaving instinct — even in the days before Madison Avenue and Hollywood? Were the cave ladies impressed with beardless youths?

Well, no, says Jim. It is more likely that the beard interfered with early man's chances of survival.

Probably wild beasts found it easier to pull down the man by the beard. At any rate, it is known that as early as the 4th Century B.C. Alexander the Great made his troops shave, not for health reasons, but because beards offered enemy soldiers a convenient "handhold."

Today, the average man spends 3,500 hours, or nearly 150 days out of his life, removing hairs from his face. Often it is painful, as well as a time-consuming process. But most men find it easier to shave for 150 days-a-lifetime than to explain to women for 5,000 days-a-lifetime why they decided to grow a beard.

Some other odd facts on the subject of shaving picked up through weighty research by the makers of razor blades.

Whiskers are four times as thick as the hair on a man's head. God only knows why.

The average man has about 30,000 whiskers on his face.

They are as tough as copper wire of the same size.

Whiskers come in varied shapes: oval, round, rectangular. If left unshaved, they will grow (on the average man) 17 inch a day, or half-an-inch a month.

A razor blade gives a far closer shave than an electric razor. But a blade also takes off four to 15 times as much skin in the process.

However, new skin forms promptly to replace the old. And one dermatologist says that the "scraping away of old skin tissues may actually be beneficial. The normal face doesn't show any wear from daily shaves. In fact, a strong subject to the same amount of scraping for 30 or 40 years would probably show much more wear."

Of course, God never intended a stone to shave.

Signs of progress in the back country.

In a remote area of Alaska the local Eskimos do not read English or understand Arabic numerals. When the telephone company put in dial phones the natives just didn't get the hang of it.

So a hotshot executive thought of a system. He replaced the conventional dial with one that had pictures of familiar animals instead of letters and numbers and now everything's great.

To call Watergate dial three seals a polar bear, two walrus and one scapegoat.

Believe It Or Not

Columnist Russell Baker on this page yesterday complained that "establishment thinkers" were mistakenly trying to protect the presidency from reaction to the Watergate affair and he said that it is time that a president of the United States is thought of as merely the first citizen of the Republic, rather than being accorded "such awe as the devout give the divine."

Americans don't regard Richard Nixon as divine, nor did they accord such status to Johnson or Kennedy or any of the others. They have a traditional respect for the office and place a lot of faith in it. What the establishment thinkers were doing was suggesting that Nixon not be unjustly vilified until all the facts are in, because much of the rest of the world, as well as the people of America, would like to have faith in the office of President of the United States. It yields more power than the gods in many minds. These times are much different than the infant days of the agrarian republic when the presidency was in practice only one third of the government, as Baker put it.

The first citizen of the Republic was on television Monday night asking for support and indirectly sympathy and understanding. It was not one of his better speeches if judged by delivery. Nixon-haters could regard it with smug contempt. Somehow a sincere Nixon doesn't seem sincere.

He accepted final responsibility for Watergate but said for the first time in his political career he left the management of a campaign to subordinates. He said he had no prior knowledge of the Watergate plans and had been misled by those attempting to cover it up. He asked all Americans to join him in setting higher standards for politics and he said he would do everything in his power to bring to justice the Watergate conspirators.

He did not say precisely who did what and he did not direct that an independent investigator-prosecutor be named, but said only that Attorney General-designate Richardson could employ one if he so wished.

A multitude of questions were still unanswered after the President's speech to the nation. His zeal in the pursuit of justice did not seem to match the zeal with which the Watergate planners and agents carried out their scheme.

But until or unless additional facts implicate the President, what reasonable alternative do we have other than to believe him?

Jumping The Gun

The City Council minus one member deadlocked 3-3 Monday in voting on additional zoning for a proposed shopping center at 56th and Old Cheney Rd. The item probably will be held over only until next week when another vote is expected, but some of the argument Monday indicated that the council has no business at all voting on the application at this time.

Two of the members favoring the Hub Hall proposal at 56th said it should be considered along with two other proposed regional shopping centers while the third said it should stand on its own merits. One of the other proposals — for a shopping center at 84th and O — can be acted on by the present council May 14, but another, at 27th and Old Cheney Rd., will not be ready for final action until late May or June after a new council is organized, so if comparison is the issue, deferring the first two is the only open course.

The council also argued about the need for new regional shopping centers, who should provide "real economic justification" for the centers and about further studies and the Comprehensive Plan in general.

As we have said before, the present council would be jumping the gun if it acted on either or both the 56th and 84th St. proposals without hearing the plans for 27th and Old Cheney Rd. and before a number of broad development questions, including the issue of Stevens Creek expansion, are resolved.

In the interests of orderly growth and development, the present council, which expires at the end of the May 14 meeting, should take itself out of the decision-making process regarding these important proposals.

Vietnam And The Watergate

NEW YORK — A lot of Americans thought George McGovern hysterical last year when he said the Nixon administration was the most corrupt in American history. But neither McGovern nor anyone who supported him should take pleasure in the considerable vindication they are now receiving. This grim spectacle of investigation, recrimination and resignation overshadowed as it is by the probability of criminal indictment shakes not just the Nixon administration but American government and to its roots.

Those roots lie in the confidence and trust of the American people. For two centuries, despite their amiable cynicism about many forms of graft and an almost admiring tolerance for colorful demagogues, Americans have generally trusted their government — particularly that government most remote from them, in the 20th Century that trust concentrated itself almost fanatically in the presidency, as the one office capable of coping with the vast new concerns that rushed in at home and abroad. The result is a presidential government in which the other branches serve as occasionally effective anchors to windward.

Shake confidence in the presidency, therefore, and you shake confidence in the government. In the sixties, for millions of Americans, the war in Vietnam and its consequent deceptions and disillusionments first brought the office into distrust and contempt. Now the Watergate scandal is bound to extend that corrosion of confidence — particularly since the Nixon administration came to office in 1969, and stayed in after 1972, not least because so many Americans believed Nixon's pledges to restore confidence, re-establish authority and preserve traditional American values.

But it seems reasonably clear that crimes including at least wiretapping, theft, burglary, breaking and entering, perjury, malfeasance in office, suborning perjury, bribery, forgery, obstruction of justice, various forms of conspiracy and numerous violations of both the election and campaign finance laws, have been planned, committed, connived at, condoned or covered up at high levels of the government (which is to say the presidency). The accompanying ethical transgressions — particularly the vile intrusion upon Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatric records — shatter even the most supple standards of personal or political conduct.

And no matter how strongly it may be asserted that Nixon knew nothing of any of this, and took strong action as soon as he did know, the facts remain that he gathered the culprits about him, he gave them their power and whatever sense of his purposes and limits they may have had, and he failed in the first duty of a responsible official, which is to know what is being done in his name or with his authority.

These sorry facts, moreover, raise new and ominous questions about other, earlier matters of concern — the administration's decision, for example, to raise milk support prices after major campaign contributions by the dairy industry, and the settlement in dubious circumstances of an important anti-trust suit against I.T.T.

This sad crumbling of an administration and Nixon's desperate efforts to retrieve a position that so recently appeared imperial may seem nothing more than good political fodder to some Democrats, others like the governors who cancelled National Chairman Robert Strauss's plan to make a television speech on the subject, surely realize that whatever partisan advantage may be derived from the Watergate crimes is minor when measured against the damage to the nation, its institutions, and its spirit.

The conclusion the Democrats as well as the Republicans would do best to draw is that the presidency is not an imperial office. No matter

By WILLARD H. WALDO
DeWitt, Nebraska
Member, State Board of Education

Paying school costs from property tax is about as obsolete as it would be to have students study out of text books written 50 years ago. Yet Nebraska is still taxing property for about 85% of the school cost.

People and the income they receive should pay the bill, not just property. Why not divide the school cost about equally between (1) sales tax, (2) income tax, and (3) property tax?

Since I first served in the Nebraska Legislature, starting in 1957, I have attended a few hundred meetings and hearings where school finance was discussed. I have heard almost every reason imaginable as to why each of the three forms of taxation is unfair to someone and likewise the merits of each form of taxation. I believe the highest possible degree of fairness to all people in Nebraska would be the three-way split between sales, income and property tax.

Governor J. J. Exon has been sincere in his efforts to work through his tax committee, of which I happen to be a member, to develop a program of property tax relief and desired support for education. He may not have all the answers but certainly his proposals merit serious consideration by the Legislature. Part of the problem in the opinion of many is the fact that many people are building new homes or setting up trailer courts and are expecting taxpayers in other school districts or possibly their own district to pay the bill of education.

True, we have a school district in Nebraska (Valley) that has a mill levy of 86.57 for schools. Neighboring districts (Waterloo) 79.83 mills and (Elkhorn) 62.03. The tax base is low and concentrated on homes and farms. Studies show the enrollment may double or triple in these districts within the next ten years. Who is going to pay the bill? In the past, much of the added burden has been shifted to farmers through school reorganization and the present state-aid formula.

Farm land north and west of Omaha, for example, probably is worth $200 to $400 for agricultural purposes. Developers and people wanting new homes built in the area push the price up to $4,000 per acre and above. In turn, those who continue to farm in the same district have an increase in assessed value of their land at a level far above the return on investment for agricultural purposes. Farmers who sell their land often go out away from the development areas to replace the land they sold and that tends to establish land values throughout Nebraska at a level much higher than its true value for agricultural use.

Why are farmers concerned? Suppose you have a professional man and his family, including three school-age children, living in a $30,000 house on an acre of ground in the corner of a section of land; a farmer and his family, including three school-age children, in a $30,000 home on the other corner, but the farm family also owns and operates the balance of the 638 acres in the section. Let's assume both families enjoy a net income of $20,000 per year. Who should pay the more money to support the local school district? It seems logical that the two families enjoying the same income and standard of living should pay the same tax dollars. At present the division of the tax burden is nowhere near equal. This particular farmer's family in the average school district in Nebraska would be paying about 10 times more school taxes than his neighbor who pays only on his home. It is true many farmers do not pay as much school tax as used in the example, but also it is true they do not enjoy as much income or have the ability to pay.

We have heard repeated reference to "wealthy districts" and "poor districts." The reference is made to the property value within the school district. Such references as a basis for state aid are grossly misleading. They do not necessarily reflect the ability of the citizens within the district to support education. For example, Pawnee County might be termed a wealthy property-rich county, yet medium family income in 1969 was $5,572 as compared to Douglas County's $10,419. The total ability of a district must be measured not only in terms of property valuation, but also by income produced. It can be argued that ability to pay taxes for the support of schools is perhaps singularly the most important factor, yet every able-bodied citizen should also be willing to make some contribution to the support of public education for benefits he receives directly or indirectly.

I certainly cannot support the present state aid formula which few people understand. Full funding at the present formula would be even more unfair. At present about $12 million is distributed on the basis of average daily membership and $24 million on the basis of a formula which gives little aid to districts with a high valuation per pupil regardless of the ability to pay taxes.

For example, the State Board of Education holds farm land in trust for the benefit of the Nebraska School for Visually Handicapped. The land in Boone County is appraised at $206,463. It returned $7,635.48 in 1972 or 3.69% return on the investment. If this land were owned by an individual and taxes paid, the return would have been practically nil. If an individual borrowed money to own the same land, the interest rate would be seven to eight per cent. Why should operators of land in Boone County be expected to support schools in new development areas such as the one northwest of Omaha?

I remember only one farmer testifying at hearings throughout the state on state aid to education who was in favor of the present formula or program. He was the farmer who sold his land, put the money out on loan and in stocks and bonds and is now living off the income from the intangible property which pays no school tax.

I believe the time has come to recognize that measurement of aid in dollars alone is better than attempting to devise formulas based upon mill levy alone or tying equalization aid to mill levies. Mill levies used alone spell out nothing. It is mill levies times valuation that determine tax dollars and added to this, one must consider net income and ability to pay — not mill levy alone. This is because of the wide variation in valuations of districts, the lack of equalization of assessments between counties, the wide disparity of median family income produced in relation to existing valuations, and the great difference in number of pupils.

Too many times in the past, formulas have been jockeyed around to the liking of a majority of the state senators to get 25 votes with little consideration for the rest of the state or thought of unfairness between taxpayers within a school district.

It is time for people — not land and cows — to start paying the bill for education.

Equal Time

Lincoln, Neb.
Residents immediately south of the Capitol should consider themselves lucky to be the primary beneficiaries of Lincoln's newest crime-fighting device the helicopter. Since the use of the helicopter began, there has been a significant drop in the violent crimes of sleeping and peacefulness. Before the helicopter began its nightly forays against crime and/or evil, the crime of sleeping ran rampant, and it was not uncommon for a citizen to suffer an entire night's sleep right in his own home! But now, whether a citizen chooses to bed down after the news or after the late movie, the helicopter is there, keeping its vigil against sleep. Citizens are now protected from the crime of sleep for as long as a half hour straight, with frequent return check-ups at the most dangerous hours when most persons are fighting sleep single-handed.

The crime of peacefulness has also been effectively stifled. Who says the big cities have a monopoly on noise? With a single modern device, Lincoln can combat peacefulness on a scale with much larger cities.

It is unfortunate that residents south of the Capitol receive so much of the benefit and time of the helicopter, for other parts of the city surely deserve as much consideration. Citizens who are not now receiving regular nightly visits by the helicopter are urged to write their city councilmen and complain of this unfair treatment. Surely the wealth and political power of the residents in the Capitol vicinity should not enable them to obtain a monopoly on prime-time visits by the helicopter. Citizens in the suburbs deserve equal time if we are to preserve the democratic ideal of insomnia for everyone.

Fun On The Farm

Lincoln, Neb.
My childhood on the farm was mostly fun. When school was out, my days were filled with play, following the fresh-smelling earth plowed up by Papa, sitting astride a tree limb happily eating the black red cherries that stained my mouth and fingers with their delicious juice. Sometimes I pushed my baby sister around the yard in her buggy. Once I got too close to the edge of the board walk and buggy, blankets, baby and all rolled out on the lawn. Mama came running to put everything back together again shaking her finger at me.

I filled the cob box, pumped water for the tank on the back of the kitchen range, drove the milk cows into the barnyard. Gathering eggs was never a dull job. One day I started whirling around in circles my arms straight out until I was dizzy. Down I went and the basket of two dozen eggs flew, ending in a mess and I with a spanking. Some hens lay in boxes fixed for them in the chicken house. Now and then, putting my hand under a protesting hen, I would find a young bull snake there and the egg already devoured. I never got used to the experience and always ran screaming as the snake slithered away and the hen flew over my head, squawking at the top of her voice.

There has always been the question, which came first, the chicken or the egg? After years of thought, I have come to this conclusion. When Noah built the ark, he took by twos every living thing. The Bible said nothing about eggs, only the hen and the rooster. So now — for all time — the hen came first.

Angry Officers Insult President

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Navy officers infuriated by the assassination of a retired rear admiral shouted insults at President Alejandro Lanusse on Tuesday and knocked down ex-President Arturo Frondizi when he tried to attend the admiral's wake.

Building anger over the assassination threatened to boil into a crisis that could endanger the turnover of power to the recently elected Peronist civilian government scheduled to take over from the military junta May 25.

The navy, considered the most conservative of Argentina's armed forces, played a key role in the overthrow of President Juan D. Peron in 1955 and remains the most anti-Peronist of the services.

Under a new state of emergency in Buenos Aires Province, the army decreed that anyone convicted in special military courts of killing military personnel or police, active or retired, "will be punished by death." Another decree set death as the maximum sentence for illegal possession of weapons and kidnapping.

The death penalty had been abolished in Argentina earlier this year.

Other emergency measures in Buenos Aires Province prohibit demonstrations and rallies and impose censorship on "all communications related to terrorism."

The province and four others were declared emergency zones on Monday, putting them under martial law.

The military government demanded that the incoming

Peronist government condemn terrorism. President-elect Hector J. Campora cut short meetings in Madrid with Peron and cabled that he was returning "on the first plane" to discuss the problem with senior military commanders.

Lanusse was insulted as he arrived with his wife at the wake in navy headquarters for Rear Adm. Hermes Quijada, 52, who was shot Monday on a downtown street by two leftist terrorists.

Adm. Carlos Coda, commander in chief of the navy, placed a navy captain under 20 days' house arrest for shouting in Lanusse's face that the president was "bland" toward Peronism and terrorist violence.

Quijada was the third high-ranking military man assassinated by guerrillas since December. Two other top officers were kidnapped in April and are being held captive by Trotskyite guerrillas.

Navy officers blocked Frondizi's entrance and knocked him to the ground when he appeared at the wake. Quijada was a top aide in the Frondizi government, but the ex-president supported a Peronist coalition in the March 11 general election.

Campora was due in Buenos Aires on Wednesday and was to go immediately to Government House.

Carrier Boys Praise Germany After Exciting European Tour

For the past 11 days, two 13-year-old Nebraska newspaper carrier boys whirled non-stop through Dracula's torture chambers, the massive Olympic stadium and village, banquets, museums and state receptions.

The excitement still hadn't worn off Tuesday night when Jeff Charroin of Lincoln and Brad Brabec of Geneva returned to the Capital City.

Besides the gifts, Brad brought home a trophy he was awarded during the tour. The 128 boys were divided into groups and the 13 with Brad voted him the "most outstanding" in his group.

Jeff said for him, "Munich was the highlight of the trip. People are always out there. They have big stores and big theaters. There's always something to do."

Jeff, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Charroin, said the Romanians "didn't know any of the legends" about Count Dracula and Transylvania.

"He was just one of their kings," said Jeff, the more serious of the pair. "We asked one of the people about him (Dracula), and they said, 'Who?'"

But in the count's forest, "The castles up on top of the mountains are really great," Jeff said.

The boys toured Romania and Austria with 126 other American newspaper carriers on a trip sponsored by Parade Magazine and the Journal-Star Printing Co.

"I liked Germany the best," Brad said, and "going down the Rhein River. I like the way they treated us and the scenery."

He said he learned a lesson about different cultures, too.

"One night at dinner, we were all applauding" some Romanian dancers, when "some kids started whistling" to show their appreciation. "One dancer looks over at me very strange," he recalled, explaining that in Romania, whistling is the same thing as booing. "We were applauding and booing at the same time."

Both the boys said they "just loved" the Olympic stadium and village in Munich. Jeff said he especially liked the roofs, "the way they were arranged."

Brad tried to disguise his delight about the girls they met at dances along the tour. Did he like them? "Yeh." Did they speak English? "Yeh." Will he write to any of them? "I didn't get their addresses."

"I'd love to go back," said Jeff, a Lincoln Journal carrier. "There's so much I missed that I wanted to see."

Your heart, your health, and your margarine.

A vital message from the makers of Mazola® Margarine.

What many heart specialists say:

Although there is still a lot to be learned about the cause and prevention of heart disease, many heart specialists strongly suggest we limit the saturated fats and cholesterol in our diets. They say there is encouraging evidence that people (even people with an inherited tendency toward heart disease) can substantially reduce the possibility of heart attacks if we plan our diet to control blood cholesterol levels; avoid smoking cigarettes; maintain normal weight; exercise regularly and get medical care if we have diabetes or high blood pressure.

Why we should reduce saturated fats and cholesterol.

One authoritative guide put it this way: "The typical American diet is rich in eggs, which are high in cholesterol; and meats, butter, cream and whole milk, which are high in animal (saturated) fats. These foods tend to raise the level of cholesterol in the blood, and a high blood cholesterol level contributes to the development of atherosclerosis, a form of hardening of the arteries. Atherosclerosis is the condition that underlies most attacks."

Why we should substitute polyunsaturates.

Heart specialists warn us that it isn't enough to simply avoid saturated fats such as exist in butter or fatty meats.

They say we should also actively seek out polyunsaturates (like you'll find in Mazola Margarine or Mazola Corn Oil). That's because such polyunsaturates actually tend to lower the levels of cholesterol in our blood. In fact, they help the body get rid of excessive amounts of newly formed cholesterol. Think about that.

Mazola tastes good.

Chances are, your family will like Mazola better than whatever you're using now. Because the flavor experts at Mazola have developed a special way of taking good, natural flavor (but none of the butter fat) from butter itself. Then they blend these flavor elements with the good light corn oil in Mazola. Which is why no other margarine matches Mazola's fresh, light, buttery flavor.

What you can do. What we can do.

Since Mazola Margarine is high in polyunsaturates, low in saturated fats, and has no cholesterol whatever, it's just good sense to switch. After all, we can't give you the willpower to lose weight, cut down smoking or take up exercise. But we can give you a good tasting margarine that can be a useful part of your overall heart attack prevention program.

State Senators Split 21-21 On Detached Bank Facility Proposal

By The Associated Press
A bill which has split Nebraska's banking community, designed to permit banks to establish a second detached teller facility, also split the Legislature Tuesday.

A motion to kill the measure drew a 21-21 tie vote. Adjournment for the day cut off further action and the bill, LB312, remains on general file for later disposition.

Sen. Richard Lewis of Holbrook promised a motion later to let the bill remain dormant until lawmakers reconvene next January, in the hopes bankers in the interim can iron out their disagreements.

Present law permits a bank to establish one detached teller facility within 2,600 feet of the main bank. The detached tellers can receive deposits and loan payments, and cash checks.

Bellwood Sen. Loran Schmit's LB312 would permit banks to establish a second teller facility, not limited by the 2,600 foot restriction although it would need to be within the city limits. A bank which does not now have a detached teller facility could establish outside the 2,600 foot limit.

A poll of the Nebraska Bankers Association resulted in 173 votes in favor of the bill, 207 opposed, and 52 abstaining, the Legislature was told.

Schmit vehemently denied that the bill is related to branch banking, prohibited under Nebraska law. He termed it a "people's bill," for the benefit of banking customers. He said he introduced it at the request of former State Sen. J. O. Peck, Columbus banker.

Sen. John Murphy of South Sioux City, who made the kill motion, said some bankers interpret the bill as a "first step to branch banking." He said the Independent Bankers Association is the chief opposing organization.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff told the Legislature had he fathered the original legislation permitting detached teller facilities and said the same arguments against the bill heard then were being repeated on LB312. He discounted the expressed fears that big established banks would move into new territories and freeze out competition. He said established banking interests have better luck obtaining new charters than do "outsiders" and a sort of in-breeding has resulted.

Real Estate License Suspended

A North Platte real estate broker Tuesday had his license suspended for 30 days by the Nebraska Real Estate Commission for failure to return a $100 deposit to a North Platte couple.

The commission said a tentative sale of 13½ acres of land was made by Harold Sonneman of the Sonneman Real Estate Agency in North Platte to Robert C. and Bessie May Wilson. A $100 earnest deposit was placed on the transaction, the commission said.

The sale was later cancelled and the Wilsons requested return of the deposit, but the commission said Sonneman refused even though the sellers, Richard D. and Rosalee M. Lackner, did not want a forfeiture of the deposit.

The suspension is effective May 10.

Dentists Told Improved False Teeth Available

By GORDON WINTERS
Star Staff Writer

Present accepted practices for fitting a set of false teeth for a patient particularly a patient with diseased gums can be greatly improved, according to a New York dentist.

Dr. S. Howard Payne, speaking to dentists at the Nebraska Dental Association Tuesday, said a new technique he has been developing and using over the past 20 years has had "magnificent" results.

New Officers Installed By Dental Association

Dr. Donald I. Herzog of Grand Island was installed as president of the Nebraska Dental Association Tuesday at a meeting of the group's House of Delegates.

Dr. William E. Murphy of Omaha was installed as president-elect of the organization.

The Nebraska Society of Periodontology elected Dr. Gerald Tussing of Lincoln president Monday. Other officers are Dr. Wesley Berry Jr. of Lincoln, vice president, and Dr. Jack Cassingham of Omaha, secretary-treasurer.

Dr. Robert Smith of Omaha was elected president of the Nebraska Society of Oral Surgeons. Dr. Jerry Schoettger

Basic to his new program, Dr. Payne said, is the preparation of two sets of false teeth, the first of which serves as an interim set and later an emergency set.

According to Dr. Payne, present practices in which a dentist fits a set of dentures and then refits them six months to a year later mean that after the refitting the second pair never looks or feels as well as when the dentures were first fitted.

Dr. Payne also noted that patients begin wearing the interim set of dentures immediately.

ly, rather than waiting up to six weeks for the gums to heal after teeth are pulled.

However, Dr. Payne noted that patients are advised not to use the teeth for chewing or eating, but rather to consider the interim set of dentures as a bandage at first.

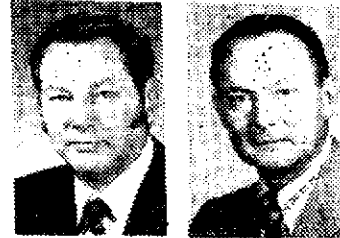

Dr. Payne said the wearing of the interim set of dentures usually means that the patients' gums will heal better and will retain a more prominent and irregular appearance which is well suited for wearing false teeth.

After the patient has worn the interim set of dentures for four months or more, Dr. Payne said, the patient is fitted for his second set of dentures.

The patient keeps the first set of dentures as a spare for use in emergencies.

The selling point for the new practice, Dr. Payne said, is that he can tell a patient that he will get two sets of dentures for less cost than getting one set which will need to be refitted.

Dr. Payne half-seriously advised Nebraska dentists at the lecture in Pershing Auditorium to avoid using the terms temporary and permanent to describe the two sets of dentures because the patient would immediately see dollar signs flash before his eyes.

of Lincoln was named vice president of that group and Dr. Donald Vap of Omaha was chosen secretary-treasurer.

The American College of Dentists named Dr. Benjamin Lynch of Omaha chairman. Other officers are Dr. James Weesner of Lincoln vice chairman and R. Philip Maschka of Omaha, secretary.

Watters Fears Severe Gas Pinch

There was more talk about the Midlands fuel shortage Tuesday. This time, from George Watters, executive director of the Nebraska Petroleum Marketers Association.

Watters said the fuel situation is very tight. He said "I have a feeling it's much worse than we realize at the present moment and that as soon as the farmers get in the field we're going to feel a very, very severe pinch on the supply of gasoline."

Watters said one service station owner in Lincoln has closed its business. "I understand there's another that will probably close today and I've had reports from outstate that some stations are rationing to transit trucks."

Watters said some outstate service stations limit sales to transit trucks at 10 gallons, and try to hold their supply for regular local customers.

An Omaha member of the association, Rex Ekwall, agreed with Watters. "There are definite limitations outstate," Ekwall said, "and there might be possible short term rationing in Omaha."

Ekwall said the problem would not be a short term one.

The annual convention of the Auxiliary to the Nebraska Dental Association will be concluded today, thus ending that state meeting which was held in conjunction with that of the Dental Association.

Highlighting the Dental Auxiliary's meetings, however, was the installation ceremony which followed a 12.30 o'clock luncheon held at the University Club on Tuesday afternoon, May 1.

During those festivities, Mrs. Frank Dowd of Omaha assumed the reins of presidency from retiring president Mrs. Roy Eurich of North Platte. Other officers installed at the luncheon were Mrs. Gordon Pejsar, president-elect; Mrs. Robert Aarvig of Omaha, recording secretary; Mrs. Steven Anderson of Grand Island, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Frank Wentz, treasurer.

The afternoon luncheon also was highlighted by the auxiliary's second annual scholarship presentation. Receiving the awards were Mrs. John Koutouc and Miss Margaret Platz of David City.

MISS JORENA ENGLERT

There will be interest this morning in the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Englert of the engagement of their daughter, Jorena Paye, to Jon T. Briggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Briggs. The wedding will take place in September.

Miss Englert attended Kearney State College, and spent two years in respiratory therapy training in Lincoln General Hospital where she now is a respiratory therapy technician.

Mr. Briggs is attending the University of Nebraska where he is majoring in criminal justice and law enforcement. He also is a full time officer with the Lincoln Police Department.

MISS BARBARA SCHMITT

This morning the engagement of Miss Barbara Schmitt, daughter of Mrs. Evelyn Schmitt and Lloyd Schmitt, both of Lincoln, to Jerry Dallman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Dallman, is announced by the bride-elect's mother.

The wedding is planned for spring of 1974. Miss Schmitt is a former student at Grace Bible Institute in Omaha, and now is careering as a clerk-typist in the offices of the State Parole Administration.

Mr. Dallman is a sophomore at the University of Nebraska where he is majoring in philosophy.

Know Your Antiques

This Chippendale style mirror was made of carved giltwood. Mirrors were still expensive when this 18th century English example was made (Taylor and Dull)

Ralph and Terry Kovel

If you own a glass mirror that was made before 1720, it is probably worth less than it was when it was purchased. This is one of the very few antiques that has become less expensive over the years. The frames on the early mirrors were made of silvered bronze or other polished metal. Glass mirrors backed with lead were known by the 1200s. The English still used metal mirrors during the mid-17th century.

Early mirrors were made of glass that was lined with silver or foil. It was difficult to get larger pieces of glass and silver.

When plate glass was invented in the late 17th century, the mirror was less expensive. The 16th century method of using mercury with tin foil as a backing was popular. It was not until 1840 that the silver deposit system used today was invented.

One early mirror made in the 17th century, sold for $100,000 when it was first made. It was not until the late 18th century that mirrors were sold at prices suited to those other than the very wealthy.

Q—Our old bed is an odd size. It is something between a twin bed and a double bed. When did they start making beds in sizes so you could buy a ready-made mattress?

A—Manufacturers made an agreement about the size of beds during the 1920s. It was at that time that mattresses, sheets, and blankets could be made in a limited number of sizes. The twin bed was not an acceptable idea until the beginning of the 20th century. Designs for twin beds do exist from the 18th century. It was considered improper for a married couple to sleep apart.

Q—I was left a five-piece silver tea set. The teapot is marked J.T. Cox, New York.

A—John and James Cox worked in New York City from 1817 to 1853.

Teenagers have problems as do all people and whether that teenager is a girl or a boy makes no difference in the matter of worrisome questions. Talk your problems over with Roxi — Write to her in care of The Lincoln Star, Lincoln, Neb.

Dear Roxi:

My boyfriend shows no emotion about anything or anyone. When we first started going together I thought maybe it was me or he was just slow, but then I noticed he was that way with everyone and everything. Is there any way of helping him to show emotion or open up?

S.M.

Dear S.M.:

People who show no emotion keep their feelings inside, which is one of the worst things anyone can do to himself. If a person trusts a fellow human enough they may be more likely to open up to that person, so try and make sure that your boyfriend realizes this. Then, when your fairly sure he does, ask him questions which will lead to inner feelings and see if he doesn't respond.

Dear Roxi:

I have a friend who puts on a fainting spell every time she can pull it off and get some attention. Everybody who knows her just laughs everytime she does it. Its only the ones she pulls it on who are fooled and then only for just a minute. She's a good friend, but what she's doing is ridiculous. What can I do?

A.C.

Dear A.C.:

Your friend has an inferiority complex. She thinks no one will notice her unless she causes something to happen which will get her this attention. Accept her for what she is and try to give her attention, in a more conventional way, such as by a compliment. This may be enough to get her to quit this outlandish practice.

Dear Roxi:

My dad got his first speeding ticket ever last week. I thought it was kind of funny and I was just kidding with him, but boy did he take it wrong. When I got my first speeding ticket dad really bugged me about it, so why is it that he can't take my kidding if I took his?

Sally B.

Dear Sally:

For one thing consider this: your dad felt that he should be an example to you, so when he got a traffic ticket it made him look bad. Consider how long your dad has been driving compared with how long you have been driving. Now, compare who got a speeding ticket sooner, you or your father? I'll bet you did. Remember he is your father and he is entitled to your respect.

Dear Roxi:

What does a person do when you get yourself in a jam in a conversation? I have a habit of saving the wrong thing at the wrong time in a conversation and then I can't seem to get myself out of it.

Dear S.D.:

You can start by using the element of common sense when engaging in a conversation. It is better to say too little than to say a lot and later regret it. When you get in a jam change to a neutral subject, one that is safe from all angles.

ABBY

DEAR ABBY: Would you advise a husband and wife to work together every day? My husband is opening a new business and a lot of people have told me we might get tired of each other if we're together all day and all night. We get along very well.

I am a bookkeeper and receptionist so it's not like we'd be elbow-to-elbow all day long.

CONSIDERING IT

DEAR CONSIDERING: If you get along well together, and aren't elbow-to-elbow all day long, there's no reason why it shouldn't work out. Some married couples who are nose-to-nose all day enjoy being cheek-to-cheek all night, while others who are apart all day would be happier apart all night, too.

DEAR ABBY: Tell me if I am out of order. I have asked our two daughters, ages 18 and 20 to kindly wear bras when they are home. They both say they don't like to wear them and they refuse to do so. Their 15-year-old sister (who lives at home) has picked up the no-bra style from the older girls and she sneaks out of the house without one even though I have told her time and time again that I did not want her going to school without a bra.

This no-bra business has practically ruined our home. All my daughters need bras, and I think they look terrible without them. Should I insist, or drop the whole thing?

MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Drop the whole thing. That's what THEY'RE doing.

Opening lead - king of clubs.
Card reading — the ability to deduce how the unseen cards are divided — plays an enormous role in the outcome of many hands. Declarer can sometimes perform what appears to be a feat of magic by determining what kind of hand a particular defender has — or doesn't have — and so land a contract that might otherwise fail.

Here is a striking example of the art. Let's say West cashes the K-A of clubs and shifts to a trump. How should South play the hand?

If he follows the so-called normal line of play, he draws trumps and attempts both a heart and a diamond finesse. As it happens, both lose and South finishes down one. But if South is versed in the art of card reading, he avoids this outcome and, in fact, he can be supremely confident of making the contract before he so much as tests either red suit.

After drawing trumps, his proper play is a low diamond from dummy! First let's observe the effect of this play with the cards lying as they do. If East rises with the king, South follows low and no longer requires a heart finesse, since he can discard two hearts on the A-Q of diamonds. And if East plays low on the low diamond lead from dummy, South's jack wins and the only other trick he loses is a heart.

This method of play is eminently logical, for, once

West shows up with the A-K of clubs, he cannot have both red kings or he would have opened the bidding as dealer.

Hence the low diamond play from dummy is bound to be effective. Admittedly West, rather than East, may have the king of diamonds, but in that case East is sure to have the king of hearts and the contract will still come marching home. So, regardless of who has the king of diamonds, four spades is ice cold!

BSP Founder's Day is Observed

The 42nd anniversary of the founding of Beta Sigma Phi sorority was observed on Monday, April 30 — and, as a result of this international celebration, the current week has been designated as BSP Week. The sorority was founded, in the midst of the depression, by Walter W. Ross of Abilene, Kan. Since the U.S. was then undergoing an economic depression, many women were unable to seek higher education. The sorority offered those women a change to grow through its many culture programs, and also to be of service to those less fortunate.

Today, there are more than 240,000 BSP members in many countries throughout the world. The 20 Lincoln chapters, which comprise a membership of more than 250, celebrated the sorority's founding at a banquet which was held at the Legionnaire Club on Friday evening, April 27.

During the Founder's Day celebration, the candidates for city-wide "Girl of the Year" were introduced. They were selected on the basis of their contributions to their chapter throughout the year. Local sorority activities include volunteer work for the Nebraska Society for the Prevention of Blindness, the Cerebral Palsy Telethon, the pediatric ward at the St. Elizabeth Community Health Center, Americana Nursing Center, Salvation Army, Cedars Home For Children, and the Indian Center.

"Girl of the Year" candidates are, pictured, in the first row from left to right, Mrs. Tom Tidball, Miss Mary Wall, Mrs. Ken Bonsall, Miss Doris Baker, and Miss Sue Strunc. In the second row, from left, are Mrs. Wayne Brehm, Mrs. Max Oswalds, Mrs. Stan Wells, Miss Barb Ludwig, Mrs. Clayton Wasser, Miss Karen Harshorn, and Mrs. Bob Matoush. In the third row, from left to right, are Mrs. Dick Clarence, Mrs. Les Wheeler, Mrs. Ron Wendeln, Miss Carol Gray, Mrs. Clifford Lant, Mrs. Jim Culver, and Mrs. W. R. Cornell.

Women Educators Hold Conventions

The annual state convention for women educators affiliated with Alpha Delta Kappa was held at the Omaha Prom Town House on Saturday, April 28.

Featured speaker at the day-long event was Dr. Ruth Calhoun of Kalamazoo, Mich., the association's grand president-elect.

More than 250 members of the international honorary sorority for women educators attended the state meeting.

The international sorority sponsors scholarships for young women who are residents of foreign countries to study in the United States, in the hopes of obtaining teaching degrees. In addition, state and local Alpha Delta Kappa chapters also provide scholarships for their own members and other women interested in entering the teaching field.

The American Association of University Women (AAUW) held its state convention at the Hilton Hotel in Omaha on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, April 27-29.

"Nebraska Voices of the Future" was the theme of the three-day event.

Highlighting the convention festivities were addresses by four featured speakers, including Basil C. Rafferty, former editor of the Associated Press Omaha Bureau, whose topic will be "What All The Shouting Is About"; Dr. Durward Varner, University of Nebraska president, who will speak on the topic of "Higher Education: A New Era"; Dr. Anne Campbell,

DAR Group Will Meet

Maj. Richard Skaggs, an R.O.T.C. instructor at the University of Nebraska, will discuss the reserve officer awards program at the Saturday afternoon, May 5, meeting of St. Leger Cowley Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Hostess for the group's monthly meeting will be Mrs. H. G. Schlitt, and she will be assisted by Mrs. Ervin Danekas, Mrs. Milo Thompson, and Mrs. T. B. Staley.

Local Soroptimists Honored

Several Lincoln residents were honored at the 58th North Central Regional Conference of the Soroptimist Federation which was held last weekend at Hotel Radisson-Cornhusker.

Mrs. Alvin V. Ginger was named the regional finalist in the Soroptimist Foundation's training and retraining program, known as "Women Helping Women." The $1,000 cash award was presented at the Saturday evening banquet, and Mrs. Ginger will use the funds to complete her education and earn a degree in the field of social work at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. Mrs. Ginger's application for the award was submitted by Mrs. Donald Downing, chairman of the Lincoln Club's "Women Helping Women" program.

Mrs. Shirley Roberts also was honored with a cash award at the banquet, being named the recipient of the $425 Regional Service Award Project which provides financial assistance to further the employment potential of women between the ages of 30 and 62 who need aid in entering or returning to the working world. Mrs. Roberts is a student at the Lincoln Technical Community College School of Practical Nursing. Mrs. Val Mills is local chairman of the Service Award Project.

The Lincoln Soroptimist Club also received recognition from UNESCO for its annual purchase of coupons to help provide educational supplies for the underprivileged in Turkey and South America. Mrs. Oliver T. Joy is chairman of the local organization's international goodwill and understanding committee. In addition, Miss Ethel Cairns of Marshalltown, Iowa, the regional goodwill chairman, presented Mrs. Joy with two banners depicting the location of "friendship link" clubs in Vaasa, Finland, and Lincoln, England, which are sponsored by the members of the Lincoln club.

Mrs. Ernest L. Ruhter represented the Lincoln Soroptimists at a recognition of services ceremony for organizations and individuals which was sponsored by the Lincoln Regional Center on Friday afternoon.

17.6% Increase In Net Income Reported By CTU

A reported net income increase of 17.6%, highlighted the Central Telephone and Utilities Corp. annual meeting Monday.

Stockholders attending the meeting were told the net income rose from $27.9 million or $1.58 a share in March 31, 1972 to $32.8 million or $1.72 a share on March 31, 1973.

Company officials said the earnings gain was achieved despite an 8.6% increase in outstanding shares. An extraordinary gain, equal to 11 cents a share, comes from the 1972 sale of the LaCrosse, Wis., Telephone Co.

Operating revenues for the past 12 months were up from $244 million to $273.8 million, nearly 14%.

Consolidated net income for the first quarter ended March 31 was $9.3 million, up 9.4% over the $8.5 million a year ago. Revenues rose 13% to $76.8 million. Earnings per share on the quarter after giving effect to the increase in outstanding shares were 49 cents compared to 48 cents in the year ago period.

Clarence H. Ross, chairman, and Robert P. Reuss, president and chief operating officer, said the results "point to continued earnings progress" by the widely diversified utility. They added that seasonal variations as well as fluctuations in the level of construction spending tend to distort comparisons of quarterly results.

CTU's Central System, the nation's fourth largest telephone independent, added 17,795 telephones the first quarter, a gain of 7.3% over the same year-ago period. The system was serving 1,066,335 phones at the end of March.

The officers also noted that electric and natural gas distribution operations showed improved net operating income for the quarter despite above normal temperatures in their service areas.

HEALTH TIP

FROM THE NEBRASKA MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

All levels of activity depend on the capacity of one's heart, blood vessels and lungs to perform with maximum efficiency reports the Nebraska Medical Association.

That's how regular exercise contributes to your health. In general, the harder the work, the greater the benefit to your body.

The NMA points out that one way to determine the relative demands that different kinds of exercise place on the body is to compare the number of calories which the body must burn each minute to accomplish the exercise.

Calories are a unit of heat used to measure energy in studies of metabolism and physical activity.

Table tennis for example burns six calories per minute. Tennis burns seven and one-tenth calories per minute. Running at 10 miles per hour burns 15 calories per minute. Walking at two and one-half miles per hour burns three and six-tenths calories.

In November last year I ordered two pantsuits from Greenland Studios, 4500 N.W. 135th St., Miami, Fla. I received one and a card promising the other in a few weeks. I still don't have the second suit but I have written several times and have now asked for a refund. What can I do?

—Mrs. E.B., Lincoln

ACTION: We have received numerous letters like yours, most of them involving small amounts of money but the volume of inquiries seems to require an answer. Here is our reply to all ACTION LINE readers who have trouble with Greenland Studios.

The Better Business Bureau (BBB) of Miami, Fla., says that Greenland is a member of the BBB and is one of the largest mail-order houses in the United States and Canada.

Consequently, they are frequently very slow in filling orders but, says the BBB, every complaint filed with them has been adjusted.

Therefore, ACTION LINE suggests that all those who have waited a reasonable amount of time on Greenland — let's say about six weeks — should write the BBB, 25 S.E. 2nd Ave., Miami, Fla. 33131. Include with an explanatory letter copies of your cancelled checks, order forms or communication with the company. The BBB says it should take another four to six weeks to clear an adjustment through them.

Someone has stolen — or the city has removed — the swing at the corner of 33rd and Melrose. Thousands of people have enjoyed that swing in Memory Garden. Why was it removed? Will it be replaced?

—A Swinger, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Dick Hilligus, in charge of the city's parks, says that the old swing, constructed of wood and metal some time ago, was deteriorating to the point of danger. Its bearings were shot, he says, and the wood was getting old — it was falling apart.

At first, he wasn't sure anyone would miss the old garden glider but, thanks to your inquiry, a replacement has been ordered. It will be constructed of plastic-coated steel in "burnt gold" and be old-fashioned in appearance, says Hilligus. It is scheduled to arrive in about two weeks. In plenty of time for you to get some swinging in this summer.

My son is having trouble getting his $200 deposit back from Briarhurst Apartments. He moved March 1 but despite letters to the manager, has not received his check. Everything was in order, it seems; the check just hasn't been delivered.

—Mom, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Gary Domet with Boetel and Co., manager of Briarhurst, checked immediately after ACTION LINE's call and found that somehow the matter had been overlooked in Omaha where the checks are made out.

A check will be quickly in the mail to Lincoln and Domet will phone your son the minute he gets the deposit.

Would you ask someone in charge if Sonny and Cher could come to Lincoln in the future? How about the State Fair?

—A Fan, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Ike Hoig, manager of Pershing Auditorium, says that there's small chance that the couple would come to Pershing. He says they would demand and draw a larger crowd than the auditorium could accommodate. It would probably take a crowd of 10,000 to satisfy their demands and Pershing would only hold 7,500 in a reserved-seat set-up.

It's conceivable that they might need a fill-in date — something to tide them over between St. Louis and Denver, say — but barring that, Lincoln will have to wait. The Bonos are at the top of the heap now and get about what they want, says Hoig.

Henry Brandt with the State Fairboard says that Sonny and Cher are out of the Fair's budget too at this point. Should they come down in price and should sufficient interest be shown, there would be a possibility.

Incidentally, you can let Brandt know your interests in possible entertainment by writing him at the Fairgrounds. He starts arranging for entertainers by the November preceding each year's fair and says he is anxious to hear from the people on their favorite performers.

Last October I ordered a digital clock radio with King Korn stamps from the redemption center in Grand Island. When it arrived it was the wrong kind and didn't work anyway. I sent it back right away and haven't heard a thing about it since. Please help.

—Mrs. Eugene Svoboda, Deweese

ACTION LINE: King Korn says it will check the order and let you know exactly what the problem is.

ACTION NOTE: We are pleased to have played some part in what may serve as a clarification and strengthening of laws regarding railroad crossings.

After receiving an inquiry as to the legality of driving through lowered railroad crossing arms, ACTION LINE began calling and turned up not too much more than good advice and some confusion regarding such devices.

While officials at all levels of responsibility agreed that driving through the signs is foolhardy, no one could point to any firm law making the act illegal.

Now Marvin Nuernberger, executive director of the Railroad Safety Transportation District, says that such a provision will be included in legislation being drawn up to clarify and strengthen laws regarding the relationship between railways and motorists. He says that the suggested law will include penalty provisions — $100 for first offense, $200 for second and $300 for third — and has a good chance of clearing the Legislature.

Maneuvers Are Halted By Weather

Due to heavy bombardment by high winds and severe thunderstorms, Operation Gallant Hand, a joint military operation at Ft. Hood, Tex., has been cancelled, and 110 officers and men from the Nebraska Air National Guard have returned home.

The weather was named victor in these simulated military maneuvers involving regular U. S. Army and Air Force and National Guard units, according to Capt. Leonard Krenk, information director for the Nebraska National Guard.

Operation Gallant Hand was planned to test various military forces under particular situations, Krenk said.

The operations began April 20 and were scheduled to end May 6. However, when ground and radar equipment was damaged and flying conditions became dangerous, the exercise director called off the maneuvers, Krenk said.

The Nebraska Air National Guard is a photo reconnaissance unit which specializes in aerial photos of ground military units. The airmen fly RF4C Phantom photo aircraft.

San Francisco — Homework is delivered to me by hand (I said "Will this never end?" Fetch me the cooking sherry.)

I said "Tell the teacher to please cut down the homework. I haven't caught up with your essay. 'What I Did On My Vacation'."

The child said "I have to have it in tomorrow."

I said "Ok. Bring me a pencil."

The homework is mostly words. Crossword puzzles of words. Fill in the four blanks with a word meaning distressed. The four letter words I know indicating distress are not made for school work.

The older daughter (out of school 10 happy days) brought home such things as: Jones bought a house for $6,000. He paid $2,000 down. How long will it take him to pay for the house at $50 a month?

I said "Show me a scatter you can buy for $6,000 these days. Jones should get on the Anti-Poverty Program."

I said "Wait until Jones finds out about landscaping. Wait until the tree roots begin chewing into the terra cotta plumbing."

I said "What about the interest?" I said "Before Jones has a finger on the principal, he will be down at the bank opening the end of the mortgage as we say."

I said "You can tell your teacher that Jones will never get the scatter paid for. By the time he has it half paid for Mrs. Jones will want to turn it in on a new house with a formal dining room.

Well, here's a summery day. The smell of new grass and budding trees sends the neighborhood dogs on long in vestigative walks. They troop along in pairs. Brisk as a couple of commuters heading for the bus.

Man's best friend bites 6,000 mailmen on their appointed rounds each doggy year. (The casualty rate is 2 per cent.)

The dog is determined to maintain his friendly image. friend. He bites the mailman for you. (I think we ought to cut out the "Occupant" mail. It adds to the percentage of hazard.)

To keep mailmen intact the post office has come up with all sorts of doggy ideas.

They invented a spray and a spray gun. The dogs simply put a handkerchief over their eyes — like a college militant with tear gas — and bit the mailman anyway. (Courageous dogs. Pigs off campus! they said. Grrrr.)

I did homework for the Number One daughter until she made college. She made a year and dropped out. It was a great relief. Until the younger generation took over.

I worked out some figures on the Jones house, but we only got a "C minus."

I get tired of doing homework and not getting good grades. When we got our last report card it drove me right to the cooking sherry.

I think I have a touch of spring fever. I don't want to do homework. I know that.

I said "Tell your teacher to slack off on the homework or I'll join the Foreign Legion."

If I quit doing homework the teacher will have no one to teach.

Summer is here and the rose bush has put forth one red rose.

Let us crown ourselves with rosebuds before they withered. I didn't say that Solomon said it. A wise man.

Dogs who bite mailmen do not bite me. The walking dogs come in the yard. I pick up a rock. Get outa here you tramp! They take off on the double. They know a hard hat when they see one.

Impact Of Horse Racing

The impact of a horse racing meet on a community goes far beyond the simple reshuffling of wealth from one bettor to another through the pari-mutuel windows.

A survey taken during last summer's Ak-Sar-Ben meeting revealing that the 59 days of racing pumped more than $18 million into the Omaha economy.

Broken down, the survey showed racegoers spent money in the following amounts on various items:

Hotel-motel-apartment lodging	$2,821,098
Restaurants—food	$4,595,788
Entertainment	$3,607,050
Shopping	$3,553,973
Gasoline, oil, etc.	$ 937,498
Purchases of new or used autos, trucks, trailers, etc.	$ 889,099
Purchases of services and items from doctors, dentists, hospitals, drug stores, laundries, beauty and barber shops	$ 162,570
Purchases of hay, grain, vitamins, shoeing, veterinary care and supplies for horses	$ 535,835
Track Payroll	$1,231,221
TOTAL	$18,334,132

Major Tourist Attraction

The Ak-Sar-Ben oval is one of the state's No. 1 tourist attractions.

A profile of the Ak-Sar-Ben better shows that 53 per cent are from outside of Omaha with 78 per cent of the non-Omahans coming from more than 50 miles away.

Fifty-seven per cent of the out-of-towners stay overnight after the races in Omaha and 84 per cent of the out-of-towners dine in an Omaha restaurant after the races.

Forty-seven per cent of those who come into Omaha for the races on weekend wind up doing some shopping in Omaha stores.

Of the Omahans who go to the races, 70 per cent of them eat out rather than going home for dinner.

The largest age group of all fans is 51-65 with the 41-50 age bracket second and 31-40 ranking third.

State Wins, Better Loses

The recently-completed Fanner Park racing meet in Grand Island, despite the worst spring weather in years, produced a record mutuel handle of $10,442,772.

The big benefactor was the State Treasury which was swelled to the tune of $522,138.60. With the additional one per cent tax levied by the Nebraska Legislature this year, that pari-mutuel tax total was $104,427.80 more than it would have been under the 1972 law.

Or putting it another way, the State of Nebraska got $104,427.80 that previously was going to the better.

Superb Handicapping Job

A superb job of handicapping was done by Fanner Park racing secretary Dean Williams in Saturday's Gus Fanner Handicap.

A perfect weight assignment for horses in a handicap race would have them all cross the finish line in a dead heat. Williams didn't do that, but he didn't miss by much.

Williams assigned Hooki Lau 125 pounds, which was nine to 15 pounds more than any other entry was asked to carry. When they finished the mile and 70-yard trip, Hooki Lau won by a neck with the third horse only two lengths behind the winner and only five lengths separating the winner from the last place finisher.

During a conversation the other night at Ak-Sar-Ben between Lincoln Star picker Mark Gordon and Omaha World-Herald selector Don Lee in which both were claiming that a daily averaging of three winners was pretty good picking, Ak-Sar-Ben general manager Dick Becker began to declare, "Even an orangutan with a pencil could pick three winners every day."

Doane Placed On Probation

Kansas City (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association announced Tuesday that Pan American University of Edinburg, Tex., Livingston, Ala., University and Doane College of Crete, Neb., had been placed on probation.

Pan American was placed on two years probation for irregularities in its basketball program. Livingston was placed on two years probation and Doane on one-year probation for playing in postseason football games not sanctioned by the NCAA.

Livingston received a two-year probation for playing in a first-round National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics championship football game Nov. 25, 1972.

It had also played in a postseason football game in 1971 and was placed on probation last year.

Doane also played in the first round NAIA football game on the same date. It was Doane's first infraction.

Vet Trainer Sees Derby As Two Horse Race

LOUISVILLE (AP) — The 99th Kentucky Derby stacks up as a two-horse race with Secretariat and Sham the best of a rather lackluster group of contenders, the man who helped saddle eight Derby champions said Tuesday.

"It doesn't measure up as a good field," Jimmy Jones commented during an early morning visit to the barns on the Churchill Downs backstretch. "There are some good horses running, no great ones. No super stars."

Jones and his father, the late Ben Jones, trained for the great Calumet Farm, which produced such thoroughbred giants as Pensive, Citation, Ponder, Hill Gail, Iron Liege and Tim Tam.

Citation was the last horse to capture the Triple Crown—the Derby, Preakness and Belmont—in 1948. Jimmy was the last trainer to pull off two Derby victories in a row—Iron Liege in 1957 and Tim Tam in 1958.

It's a feat Lucien Laurin, who saddled Riva Ridge a year ago, is seeking to duplicate with Secretariat, Meadow Stable's 1972 Horse of the Year.

"I don't know about Secretariat," Jones mused. "He has good breeding and his record was good coming into the Wood Memorial. But he ran in the Wood as if something was pinching him."

"I keep hearing reports that there is some heat in his leg somewhere and he is being treated with ice packs, but Lucien denies it. Some people around the stables insist it's true."

An odds-on favorite in the Wood, Secretariat ran a disappointing third behind his stablemate, Angle Light, and Sham. Railbirds attribute the defeat to the race's slow pace.

LARRY LEROY WINS ... Slops To Victory At Ak-Sar-Ben

By MARK GORDON

Star Sports Writer

Omaha — Larry Leroy's stretch running gave Grand Island's Fanner Park something to cheer about here Tuesday afternoon as Ak-Sar-Ben opened its 55-day horse race meeting.

A winner of three straight races this year at the Third City plant, the pride of Bob Snell of Hastings, defeated his more highly-publicized foes in the inaugural Handicap over 5 1/2 furlongs.

"We really started moving about the eighth-pole and got the inside rail," said a mud-splattered and soaking wet jockey Doug Schoepf. "I don't know why no other horses wanted to go on the rail, but we did and he really moved."

A driving rainstorm just before the inaugural Handicap made it almost impossible to see the start on the backstretch and changed the track condition from muddy to sloppy.

"He's won in the slop before so I really don't think the track condition had anything to do with it," Schoepf said. "He ran pretty good, didn't he?"

Although Hempen's Hawa was a lukewarm 4-1 favorite, the swift filly broke on the lead and led through much of the chase for 3-year-olds. But she gradually fell back and Cherry River, who had won one of two previous tests, passed her for second.

Larry Leroy, who scored a 21 1/2-length decision, returned $28.40, $13.60 and $9.00 while Cherry River placed for $8.40 and $5.20 Hempen's Hawa, 34-length behind Cherry River, showed for $5.00.

The $5,500 winner's share boosted Larry Leroy's 1973 earnings on four consecutive victories to $8,470.

Trainer Larry Starosiek said that the sloppy track conditions were not that much of a hindrance to the chestnut colt.

"I don't think it (off-track) helped or hurt us," the Columbus horseman said. "I would have rather had a fast track but I think I would have won anyway."

Starosiek, who also trains Great Commander for Snell, the winner of last year's Lincoln Derby, refused to compare Larry Leroy to the 4-year-old standout.

"It's too early to tell how he is compared to Great Commander," he said. "This colt is as good or better than Great Commander but he needs more races before you can really compare the two."

Snell, a Hastings attorney who publishes the "Shotgun News," said future races for Larry Leroy include future Nebraska-bred chases at Ak-Sar-Ben.

An indication as to the intensity of the rain is that the official Daily Racing Forms charts of the race listed the word "rain" all the way across except for the stretch run and the official finish.

But despite the weather, a crowd of 14,117 watched the opening-day festivities. That was the highest non-holiday Tuesday crowd in the Omaha track's history, breaking last year's opening-day attendance of 13,520.

J. L. Lively, aiming for his third straight Omaha riding championship, collected victories aboard Huskerline ($15.20) in the first and Lavenham ($17.60) in the fourth.

He also had a second on The Dutchman in the sixth.

The mutuel handle of $843,352 trailed last year's opening-day count of $883,610.

'Innovations' Concern USGA

FAR HILLS, N. J. (AP) — Claims that graphite-shafted clubs are knocking golf balls farther and a change in dimpling is making golf balls fly farther than ever has caused concern with the U. S. Golf Association.

The sport's ruling body in this country announced Tuesday that it is conducting a series of tests to see that golf remains a game of skill and innovations do not make existing courses obsolete.

"For some years the U. S. Golf Association has been concerned about the potential for increasing distance in the game of golf through new developments in ball and club manufacturing," the USGA said in a formal statement.

It added: "The USGA fears that recent aerodynamic developments in ball dimpling and the introduction of graphite shafts may render existing distance controls inadequate."

The USGA said its current tests would be made with both men and machines, indoors and outdoors, to determine the effect of these latest improvements.

While it did not say so, it indicated that some equipment may be banned in order to keep the game within bounds. At present, the distance of the ball is controlled by size, weight and initial velocity restrictions. There are no comparable restrictions on clubs although the indentations on the face of the clubs must meet certain standards.

In recent months, many of the touring pro golfers have shifted to graphite shafts, which are said to be much lighter than steel or aluminum and which permit the head to go through the ball with greater impact.

Exponents of the new club shafts are boasting distances of 20 and 30 yards more than clubs of other material. Also, ball makers have begun experimenting with the dimples on the ball to improve accuracy and reduce wind resistance.

The USGA said it had expressed its concern to equipment makers in Rochester, N.Y., in 1968 and repeated a warning to all manufacturers in general letters mailed in May, 1969, and September, 1970.

The USGA said the latter letter dealt specifically with the moment of inertia and radius of gyration effects on the flight of balls. The tests, the USGA added, are to determine if a distance bonus has been achieved through the latest developments.

Betting Bill Passed By Oklahoma House

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — In a reversal brought about by a weekend of campaigning, the Oklahoma House Tuesday passed a pari-mutuel betting bill which was voted down last week.

Rep. Fred Boettcher, D-Ponca City, principal House author of the proposal, said backers of the bill spent the weekend persuading members who had opposed the measure to switch.

The House last Wednesday voted down the Senate-passed bill, calling for a statewide election to legalize pari-mutuel betting of horse racing on a county option basis.

Boettcher held the bill on the calendar with a motion to reconsider.

When Boettcher brought up his reconsideration motion Tuesday, there was no argument and the motion was adopted quickly on a voice vote.

Again, there was no argument when Boettcher asked for a final vote, and the roll call machine was held open for only a couple of minutes.

Rep. Ray Trent, D-Del City, reminded House Speaker Bill Willis that he had said early in the session the roll call would be held open for five minutes on the first vote of each day's session.

"Actually, there's no rule to that effect," Willis replied. "The speaker observed that the majority, almost unanimous membership of the House was present."

Final tally on passage of the bill was 53-37. It failed last week by a vote of 38-60.

When asked if he was surprised at the speed with which the bill sailed through the House Tuesday, Boettcher said he had talked with supporters and opponents and all agreed not to debate the measure again, and opponents said they would not attempt to block his reconsideration motion.

"I didn't talk to Bill Willis about one thing" concerning the measure, Boettcher added when asked about the short roll call period.

The betting bill must return to the Senate for consideration of minor changes made in the House.

If given final approval, a statewide vote on the proposal will be held at the next primary election or special election, whichever comes first.

If adopted in the statewide vote, pari-mutuel betting still would be allowed only in counties approving it and only at events sponsored by state or county fair boards.

Mayor Lindsay Tries First OTB Derby Bet

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay became the first of an estimated 500,000 New Yorkers Tuesday who will bet an expected $3 million with the Off-Track Betting Corp. on the Kentucky Derby to be run Saturday.

The mayor said he was "very hopeful" that no "foreign power" — meaning Albany — will take away the OTB from New Yorkers.

Lindsay told 100 persons in the OTB parlor on the mezzanine level of Pennsylvania Station that it would be the equivalent of "taking away from you ladies your mah jong or bingo parlors." He added, "How would you gents feel if your corner saloon where you go for a few beers were taken away from you?"

The mayor bet $4, which he called "my wife's lunch money." He bet $2 on Sherry Greene in the Derby and $2 on Unopposed, an 8-1 shot at Aqueduct Tuesday. The $2 on the Derby must be held in trust until 2 p.m. Thursday, when the OTB of-

U.S.-Russia Series Resumes

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI) — The United States-Russian basketball series, sometimes resembling more a tug of war than a basketball game, resumes Wednesday night in Albuquerque with both clubs promising rougher play yet to come.

The series stands tied 1-1 following the Soviet Union's 78-76 victory over the Bill Walton-less American team Monday night at San Diego.

With the UCLA star unable to play because of a knee injury, the muscular Russians literally ripped the Americans on the boards and controlled the tempo of the game.

"I have instructed my players to be as physical as they can be," U.S. Coach Bob Cousy said after the game.

"They are very physical under the boards," American player Tom Henderson of Hawaii said. "I consider them a dirty basketball team but that's their style of play."

Russian Coach Vladimir Kandrashin, who refused to speak to newsmen after his team was drubbed 83-65 in the opening game Sunday, was much more talkative after Monday's game. And, like Cousy, Kandrashin wasn't happy with the play under the boards. "Sven Nater is a dirty player, a very dirty player," Kandrashin said in reference to the UCLA backup for Walton. "Nater goes out with his elbows and he is not a sportsman."

The game in Albuquerque will mark the second appearance for the Russian club in the city in three years. In 1971 the Soviet squad came up with one of its best performances on the American tour and whipped the U.S. squad 91-67.

Cousy, who said he was hoping to add a pair of "muscular forwards" to his attack sometime during the series, was expected to go with Nater, Bobby Jones of North Carolina and Ron Behagen of Minnesota on the front line.

Sharpshooting guard Ernie DiGregorio of Providence, the leading scorer for the U.S. team so far, will team with either Greg Lee of UCLA or Henderson in the backcourt.

Aleksander Belov, who managed to pump in 17 points Monday before fouling out, has been the most consistent Russian player through the first two games.

Other Soviet starters will be Ivan Dvorni and Alexander Salnikov, both of whom chipped in 16 points Monday. Jaak Salumets and Ivan Yedeshko.

Houston Golf Still On Tap

... COURSE IN GOOD SHAPE

HOUSTON (UPI) — Bruce Devlin, the defending champion, Tuesday said there had been rumors on the pro tour that the $205,000 Houston Open tournament was going to be canceled.

"I heard at the Tournament of Champions that it might be canceled because the course was in such bad shape," Devlin said.

The tournament, with one of the top purses on the tour this year, opens Thursday following a pro-am Wednesday at the Quail Valley Country Club.

The rumors began because the course was in poor condition much of last winter, according to Tom Davis, executive director of the Houston Golf Association which sponsors the tournament.

"Some of the touring pros live in Houston and others have traveled here and played the course, knowing it would be the tournament site," Davis said. "It wasn't in good condition because of the three snows we had last winter and the 27 days of rain we've had this spring."

"It built up to a point where I got a call from (PGA Commissioner) Joe Dey last month asking about moving the tournament to another course because he heard Quail Valley wasn't fit."

Davis said the course now is in good condition. He said the weather of the last 10 days has brought out the grass on the greens and the course is ready.

"The greens are as good as they were at the Nelson Classic (in Dallas) last week and the fairways are better," Davis said.

CFL Gridders May Join NFL

Toronto (AP) The Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Football League said Tuesday they expect all-star defensive tackle Jim Stillwagon to play out his option and move to the National Football League, and add that there's a strong possibility quarterback Joe Theismann will follow suit.

Argonaut board chairman John Bassett said Stillwagon, who starred at Ohio State and is the property of the Green Bay Packers of the NFL, had been turned down in this contract demands with Toronto.

According to Bassett, Stillwagon had asked for a $25,000 bonus and other benefits to sign for 1973, even though he received a substantial bonus when he first signed with the Argonauts.

As to Theismann, who played his college football at Notre Dame, Bassett said, "there is a strong indication he wants to test himself in the National Football League. We're going to sign him if we can, but we are not prepared to give him an arm and leg." The Miami Dolphins hold the rights to Theismann.

Indianapolis (AP) — Gordon Johncock, ignoring winds gusting up to 38 miles per hour, flashed around the Indianapolis Motor Speedway at 191.083 m.p.h. late Tuesday, improving by more than five miles an hour the best lap at the track this month.

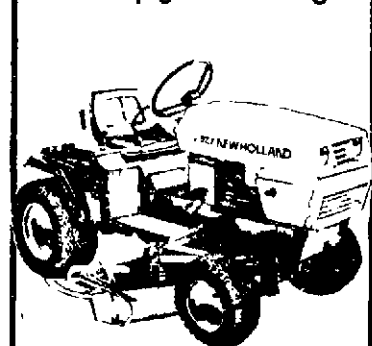

The Franklin, Ind. driver posted the unofficial best at the speedway last month during tire tests with a 199.4 m.p.h. run.

Arizona State, NCAA Adds USC Pacing Violations Baseball Poll Investigator

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Arizona State and Southern California continued their fight for collegiate baseball supremacy with the Sun Devils regaining the top position in this week's ratings released by the publication, Collegiate Baseball.

ASU, 47-5, was ranked first on the basis of a 16-game victory streak. The Devils had been second to Southern Cal, the defending national champion, in the last two ratings. Southern Cal has a 30-7 record.

South Alabama was the closest challenger to the top two teams with Texas in fourth place.

Rounding out the top 10 were Georgia Southern, Southern Illinois at Carbondale, Oklahoma State, Temple, Florida State and Tulsa.

In the second 10, in order, were Oklahoma, Michigan State, Miami of Florida, Tennessee, Arizona, Vanderbilt, Pan American, Texas A&M, Murray State and Delaware.

Cowboys' 27th Win Ties School Record

Stillwater, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma State equaled its all-time best of 27 victories in a season Tuesday with a pair of shut-out wins, 17-0 and 7-0, over Central State here at University Park.

The Pokes have won 27 games three other times, 1955, 1959 and 1961. The Cowboys are 27-3 in the season and carry a league-leading 12-2 mark into this week's three-game series with Big Eight Conference foe Missouri. Central State is 15-17 overall.

NCAA Adds Settecento Gets Win In Derby Warmup

Knoxville, Tenn. (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association has approved the addition of a fifth investigator to its staff for enforcing rules and regulations. It was disclosed Tuesday.

Dr. Earl Ramer, past president of the NCAA, said the action was taken by the NCAA executive committee at a meeting in Kansas City last weekend. Ramer, faculty chairman of athletics at Tennessee, is a member of the executive committee.

Referring to enforcement of NCAA recruiting and other regulations, Ramer said:

"We get the impression that the general sentiment among our schools is for tighter enforcement. I think we're going to see some real improvement in this area."

Ramer also said the NCAA will meet in Chicago Aug. 6-7 in a special convention to consider division of the association membership into three groups.

License Revocation Upheld By Courts

Chicago (UPI) — The Illinois Racing Board's decision to revoke a jockey's license for five years was upheld Tuesday by Circuit Court Judge Mel R. Jiganti.

Jiganti ruled on a suit filed by Lane Squire, 23, last July 24. Squire's license was revoked on a charge that he used an electric whip in the third race at Hawthorne Race Track on May 9, 1972.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Martin J. Wygod's Settecento charged up in the final strides Tuesday for a narrow victory in the $21,000 Derby Trial Stakes, possibly earning himself a start in Saturday's 99th Kentucky Derby.

With Larry Adams in the saddle, Settecento collared the odds-on favorite, Mr. Prospector, with 1-16th of a mile to go and roared to a 1-4-length victory with 1'm Guaranteed fin-

Cleveland Inks Sooners' Pruitt

CLEVELAND (UPI) — All-American running back Greg Pruitt of Oklahoma, third player selected by the Cleveland Browns in this year's National Football League draft, signed a multi-year contract with the Browns Tuesday.

Terms of the contract were not disclosed. Pruitt scored 40 touchdowns for the Sooners and gained 2,844 yards rushing including 1,665 in 1971.

He finished third in the Heisman Trophy voting in 1971 and was runnerup for the award in 1972.

The Browns plan to use Pruitt on punt and kickoff returns and also as a running back.

ishing third, six lengths behind Mr. Prospector.

Blue Chip Dan and Gold Bag trailed the field.

Mr. Prospector, the speed horse of A.L. Savin's Alisco Stable, got a poor start under jockey Walter Blum and trailed the field by a wide margin in the one-mile trial. However, in less than four furlongs, the son of Raise a Native soared to the front and led by as much as two lengths in the turn for home.

That's where Adams sent Settecento to the outside to win his fourth race in nine career starts and earn more money than he had picked up in five races this year.

Settecento paid $7.40 and $2.80, with no show betting, after running the mile in 1:37. Mr. Prospector paid $2.40.

Nebraska, Kearney To Try Again Today

A scheduled baseball doubleheader Tuesday between Nebraska and Kearney at the NU Diamond was postponed because of wet grounds.

The two teams will try to play a nine-inning single game Wednesday, starting at 3:30 p.m. at the NU Diamond.

Jacksonville Tabs Gottlieb Head Coach

Jacksonville, Fla. (AP) — Bob Gottlieb, assistant basketball coach at Kansas State for the past two years, was named today as head coach at Jacksonville University.

Gottlieb, 33, was the second coach named by the school in five days to replace Tom Wasdin, who resigned nearly a month ago to go into private business.

Howie Landa, who led Mercer County Community College of Trenton, N.J., to the national junior college championship last season, was named to the Jacksonville post last Thursday only to withdraw 24 hours later.

Gottlieb, a 1962 graduate of Ohio State University, was a member of the Buckeyes' national championship team in 1960.

Before going to Kansas State, he had been an assistant coach at Creighton and head coach at Quinnipiac College in Connecticut.

Adams Named Chadron Coach

Chadron (UPI) — Richard Adams and Ron Ten Bessel are the two newly appointed football coaches at Chadron State College.

Adams, replacing Glenn Brady who resigned to become the head coach at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, will become the Eagles' head mentor.

Ten Bessel, his assistant, will fill the vacancy created by Jim Schwartz, who resigned to accept an appointment as assistant athletic director at the University of California-Turlock.

Adams, 37, has been assistant football coach at Drake University in Des Moines, Iowa, the past three years. Ten Bessel, 28, is now serving as a graduate assistant in the physical education department at Chadron and was the defensive line coach of the Chadron football team last fall.

Virginia Signs UCLA's Nater

Richmond, Va. (AP) — The Virginia Squires of the American Basketball Association signed center Sven Nater of UCLA to a multi-year contract Tuesday, a spokesman for the Squires said.

Nater was signed in Los Angeles Tuesday by Squires Coach Al Bianchi. He is the first UCLA player signed by an ABA club.

2 Years' Probation Slated For Ellwood

Omaha (UPI) — The Internal Revenue Service said Tuesday Milton D. Ellwood of Norfolk has been placed on probation for two years for failure to file federal income tax returns for 1966 and 1967.

U.S. District Judge Warren K. Urban ordered Ellwood's probation period to begin at the time he is released from the Nebraska Penal Complex where he is currently serving a one-year sentence imposed as a result of an embezzlement charge.

Ellwood was committed to the penitentiary in February after entering a no contest plea to a charge of embezzling $2,378 in county funds while serving as Madison County attorney in November 1969.

Wherry further said Ellwood failed to file tax returns for the years 1966 and 1967 even though he had gross income totaling over $41,000.

Richard P. Vinal, district director of Internal Revenue in Nebraska, said in addition to the criminal penalties, Ellwood would still be liable for all additional taxes or these years.

Spring Storm Could Bring More Rain To Mississippi

By The Associated Press

The swollen waters of the Mississippi continued their relentless journey to the Gulf of Mexico on Tuesday, and authorities warned people in the flood's wake to be on the alert in case of more rain.

Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz, en route to Mississippi to address a group of farmers, flew over parts of the flooded river valley.

Stopping in Memphis, Tenn., he predicted that farmers would be able to recover and plant their land. "I am convinced," he said, "that if fair weather comes, our farmers will get out there shortly."

The Mississippi River Commission has estimated that 11 million acres in seven states — much of it prime farmland — is under water. Cotton farmers in several areas have said that by the time the land dries out, it will be too late to plant.

Butz, saying that all but about 1½ million acres could be planted, said that if cotton were ruled out, the farmers would grow soybeans or other crops that can be sown late in the season.

The flood waters in the northern part of the Mississippi Valley kept receding as the crest moved south along the 1,500-mile river.

In West Quincy, Mo., right across the border, some 15,000 acres, including the business district and railroad yards, were still under as much as 10½ feet of water that inundated the city when the river crested last week.

Government Silent On Negotiations

WOUNDED KNEE, S.D. (AP) — The government clamped a lid of secrecy Tuesday on the status of negotiations with the Indian militants holding Wounded Knee.

One government official said a rumor the government would storm the village if there was no agreement by Friday "might be true."

"In the immediate days ahead, we are not going to entertain any questions on negotiations," Deputy Asst. U.S. Atty. Gen. Richard Hellstern told newsmen.

Talks were last held Saturday. The government said Monday it was trying to revive them.

Asked to respond to rumors that the government would storm the village if no agreement were reached by Friday, Hellstern replied:

"That might be true. We've always considered the option of using force to settle the siege a viable one."

Neither Hellstern nor Interior Department Solicitor Kent Frizzell, the government's main negotiators, was at nearby Pine Ridge Tuesday.

Meanwhile, a possible confrontation between Indian militants and residents of the Rosebud Indian Reservation, 100 miles to the east, was averted when the tribal council reversed itself and agreed to allow the burial of Frank Clearwater, a slain member of the Wounded Knee occupation force, on its reservation.

In another development, American Indian Movement leader Russell Means was returned to jail in South Dakota.

Means was taken from Los Angeles to the Minnehaha County jail in Sioux Falls, S.D. Means had been picked up in Los Angeles Friday after his bond was revoked. Means is charged with 11 counts in connection with the Feb. 27 takeover of Wounded Knee.

The Office of Emergency Preparedness said more than 5,500 persons in Missouri had applied for federal flood disaster aid by Monday night. Damage throughout the regions that were declared disaster areas has been estimated at $320 million already.

About 40 homes were under water in St. Mary's, Mo., and Mrs. Henry Lorch, the city clerk, said, "Some of the houses are buckling on their foundations."

Some of them will never be livable again. The people are abandoning them and they say they'll never come back."

The National Weather Service warned Tuesday that a "potentially dangerous" spring storm system was moving into the basins of the Missouri, Mississippi and Illinois rivers that could aggravate the situation with as much as three more inches of rain.

"We have to say that this storm system is definitely capable of dropping up to three inches of new rain," said Al Bertram of the weather service. "The most frightening thing about the storm is its similarity to the one of about 10 days ago — the one that caused the record crests up and down the three rivers."

The major problem in the southern part of the valley was flooding from backwaters — small streams clogged by overflow from large rivers.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the annual meeting of the Delta Council in Cleveland, Miss., Butz promised that the Nixon administration "will exhaust every means available of providing disaster assistance" to flood-stricken farmers.

The weather service said heavy localized rains Monday night would cause the Mississippi to crest at 25 feet Thursday at both Hannibal and Quincy, lower than record crests of last week. Hannibal, which has a flood stage of 16 feet, was registering 23.8 feet Tuesday. Quincy, with a flood stage of 17 feet, was at 23.4 feet Tuesday.

Prowler Sends Naked Lady To Neighbors

WEST VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — The lady's husband went fishing with a friend and she slept fine until awakened by a prowler.

She rushed to the bathroom, locked the door, knotted shower curtains and towels and lowered herself, naked, to the ground. From a neighbor's house she called police.

The cops charted the house, found no prowler. But on the kitchen table was a note from the friend who had accompanied the lady's husband. He said he let himself in to put some fish in the deep freeze.

The police investigative report concluded Monday with a rare burst of plagiarism. "There are eight million stories in the Naked City. This is one of them."

Britons Visit North Platte

North Platte (AP) — What does an industrial city in a densely populated area of Britain have in common with a growing community in the farm and ranch country of south central Nebraska?

"They couldn't be more different," according to a member of the Jaycees from Stoke-on-Trent, England.

Alan Lockett, assistant manager of the North West-minister Bank in Stoke-on-Trent and his wife Elaine are spending this week in North Platte on an international exchange program recently set up between North Platte and North Staffordshire, where Stoke-on-Trent is located.

Despite the difference between the 250,000-population Stoke-on-Trent and North Platte, with only 10, that figure, there are similarities.

A main concern in Stoke-on-Trent is high meat prices, Lockett said.

"The price of meat has gone up just recently since we entered the Common Market," he said.

He said a major highway bypass is planned around the city just as in North Platte.

"People are annoyed," Lockett said. "They don't take too kindly to a major network going right past their homes."

"For instance, we pay about two and a half dollars for a pound of steak."

SILHOUETTED . . . against the setting sun is a half-built house.

BASEMENT . . . filled with water is builders' bane.

SQUARE NAILS . . . will be used by a carpenter.

MUDDY YARD . . . will have to be covered with sod

HOUSES . . . nearing completion need only siding, roofing and yard work

The task of building a house brings together the use of many different skills under one roof.

To dig the basement takes a heavy equipment operator and his machinery. Then the mason must go to work pouring the footings, the concrete basement floor and finally laying the cement blocks.

The carpenter then does his job laying the floor stringers, the flooring, the studdings and the sheeting. After that the furnace ducting and insulation is installed.

At about the same time the plumber goes to work installing bathroom and kitchen plumbing while the electrician puts in the wires for outlets and light fixtures.

Then the carpenter enters the picture again. He must put in all the interior woodwork, such as stairways, window and door frames, cabinets and flooring.

Before the final finishing is done, the plasterer must do his job followed by the painter.

And after everybody gets done tracking around the place, somebody has to cover the quagmire around the house with sod. Otherwise the whole effort could go for naught. Who would buy a home surrounded by a sea of mud?

The houses in these photos are being built by a Lincoln contractor on West Washington. The silhouette is of a house in east Lincoln.

If you wonder why a house costs the amount it does to finish, just count the number of skilled labors mentioned here.

So if you think building a house is easy, stop to ponder the pictures . . . or try to build one yourself.

DOORNOB . . . awaits installation.

Alcoholics Visited By LAP Counselors

Every week the four alcoholism counselors at Lincoln Action Program (LAP) reach out to four Lincoln families whose lives are affected to some degree by alcoholism.

"We simply recognize that working with the family is one of the most effective ways to deal with Lincoln's number one health problem: alcoholism," said Mark Carpick, one of the counselors.

Carpick explained that there are several reasons for this emphasis on family involvement. The family, he said, is hardest hit by the effects of alcoholism. The financial, emotional and mental damage that is inflicted on the family is "unbelievable."

Contrary to popular belief, the average alcoholic is not a homeless "skid-row" derelict, noted the counselor.

According to the National Council on Alcoholism and the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism, only three to five per cent of the nation's alcoholics fall into this category.

"Most of the other 95% still have their jobs and their families—and want to keep them," he observed.

Carpick also noted that the family is one of his agency's most effective tools in assisting the alcoholic's recovery.

The counselor said LAP's alcoholism counseling program uses a number of techniques to create family involvement.

—outreach activities that go to the family, rather than wait for the family to come to the agency.

—group counseling for family members which emphasizes coping techniques for those living with alcoholism.

—referral to other community resources dealing with alcohol problems.

—information service through a speakers bureau.

Funded by the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism, this program relies heavily on that federal agency for staff training services.

Although LAP is at present attempting to involve 200 families in a recovery program, Carpick believes that even if that goal is reached it will only have "scratched the surface."

Former Nazi To Stand Trial

New York (UPI) — A federal judge Tuesday ordered former Nazi prison guard Mrs. Hermine Braunsteiner Ryan to be surrendered to West German authorities to stand trial for allegedly murdering and torturing Jews in a concentration camp.

Judge Jacob Mishler's written opinion said West German officials presented "sufficient evidence" against Mrs. Ryan, now a Queens housewife, to ask for her surrender for such offenses as assassination, manslaughter and infanticide.

Teams of F4 Phantom and F111 jet fighters from American bases in Thailand again bombarded the rebel-infested eastern bank of the Mekong River two miles across from Phnom Penh, Cambodia's capital. The B52s thundered toward targets farther east and south.

The Cambodian command reported a minor success by soldiers sweeping up Highway 5 in an effort to clear antigovernment forces controlling a 12-mile stretch of the vital "rice road."

The command said one column from the village of Tuk Laak, 45 miles north of Phnom Penh, linked with another unit five miles up the road at the village of Osandan. But that left

Vietnam Leaders Pledge Reforms

By The Associated Press
American B52 bombers and jet fighters pounded suspected enemy camps around Phnom Penh on Tuesday and North and South Vietnam issued May Day pledges of reforms for their war-weary peoples.

U. S. and North Vietnamese negotiators returned from Paris to their respective capitals after a round of talks designed to improve observance of the Vietnam cease-fire. The U. S. envoy issued an indirect threat that fighting might be resumed unless Hanoi stops its violations.

Turner Must Pay $122,500 To Nebraskans

Omaha (AP) — A district court judge Monday ordered Glenn W. Turner to repay $122,500 to Nebraskans who invested in a pyramid sales promotion.

District Court Judge James O'Brien issued the order in favor of 42 persons who sued Turner and two of his corporations: Kosco Interplanetary Inc. and Glenn W. Turner Enterprises Inc.

The attorney for the plaintiffs, Seb Caporale, told the court that the main requirement for an investor was to sell additional distributorships and that retail sales of cosmetics were not important.

The antigovernment forces control about two-thirds of Cambodia, the one Indochinese country without a cease-fire.

The Saigon government in neighboring South Vietnam announced that President Nguyen Van Thieu plans sweeping changes to streamline and decentralize the country in preparation for political struggle with the Viet Cong. But other government sources quoted Thieu as saying the reorganization will keep political power concentrated in Saigon.

In Hanoi, Premier Pham Van Dong of North Vietnam called for reforms in the economy, consolidation of national defense and strengthening of the armed forces. He gave no details.

Juvenile Center Opinions Voiced

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

Only three persons appeared before the County Board Tuesday to air their views on the proposed site of the Juvenile Attention Center at 11th and South on property adjacent to the former Orthopedic Hospital.

Two persons spoke out in favor of the proposed location, noting that they didn't feel the center would create any problem and that the proposed center would be an asset to the entire community.

However, one other resident of the area indicated that location of the center in that vicinity would be a threat to her safety.

"What security do I have if and when one of these children would suddenly have a desire to do something different and leave the center," she said.

Juvenile Judge W. W. Nuernberger assured her that plans call for building a secure facility and when the children are out they would be supervised by an adult.

He said he didn't feel that there would be any greater risk to that particular area than to any other part of town, since most individuals who walk away from security facilities try to get as far away as possible from the facility.

Two other women, who refused to come before the board to be heard, made comments regarding the problems which could be caused by the facility in that area which they contended already has the problem of the Lincoln Regional Center and Penitentiary walk-aways.

No Formal Action
The commissioners took no formal action Tuesday but are expected to take formal steps next Tuesday so that further proceedings may get underway for construction of the proposed center.

Earlier this year the commissioners held a public hearing on the former proposed site at 13th and South just east of Lancaster Manor on property acquired by county with the purchase of the former St. Elizabeth Hospital complex.

At that time, there was no opposition expressed on the proposed site except several persons voiced concern that the county might need the property adjacent to Lancaster Manor for further expansion of the county-owned nursing facility.

After the City County Planning Department recommended that the county seek another site the commissioners began looking for other sites, and two weeks ago, the Executive Board of the Legislative Council accepted the offer of the county to buy approximately 66,000 square feet of the former Orthopedic Hospital property for $75,000.

County Board OKs Report As Guideline

Lancaster County commissioners Tuesday formally approved the Goals and Policies Committee Report as a guideline for planning in Lancaster County.

The action followed a joint hearing held last week by the City Council and County Board on the report, which was submitted to both bodies several months ago.

The City Council, which must act on the report separately, has not taken formal action.

In other business, the board outlined the procedure for county residents living outside corporate villages to obtain building permits.

It was noted that the permits, which are now handled by the city for the county, must be obtained through the city building inspector's office and that applicants need plat plans when making application.

In other action, the board:

—Accepted a bid submitted by Salem Co. for 24.25 per gallon for 65,000 gallons of gasoline for the engineer's office.

—Approved the subdivision permits of Michael Black and Duane Kelleher.

—Approved with two changes the personnel plan for the Lancaster Office of Mental Retardation (L.O.M.R.). One change concerned nepotism within a supervisory unit and the other specifying holidays as those being designated by the County Board rather than those observed by the State of Nebraska.

—Approved a parade permit for a walkathon for a youth missionary program.

—Deferred until next week action on a request for subdivision permit on land located one mile north of Hickman.

—Set May 22 for public hearing on an amusement license for B&B Productions, Inc. at the former Play-Mor Dance Hall on West O.

—Appointed Jasper Skinner county chairman of both the Savings Bond Drive and the United Fund Campaign.

Friday Music Events at UNL Are Rescheduled

Times of two Friday events on the City Campus of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln have been changed so that interested persons might attend both.

A performance of opera scenes slated for 8 p.m. in Westbrook Music Building has been moved ahead to 7 p.m. while an 8 p.m. lecture by New York Times music critic Harold Schonberg has been postponed until 8:30 p.m. Friday.

The opera scene program scheduled for 8 p.m. Saturday will remain at that time.

Schonberg is the senior critic of the Times and is a winner of the Pulitzer Prize. He will review a recital by artists-in-residence Miss Zara Nelsova and Grant Johannessen Saturday night in Hyannis.

Omaha Man Acquitted On Murder Count

Omaha (AP) — A 25-year-old Omaha man has been acquitted by a District Court jury of charges of second degree murder in connection with the shooting Dec. 9 of Richard Dutcher.

The jury deliberated in Omaha for 8½ hours and returned with a verdict of innocent Monday night.

Raymond Damasaukas was charged with second degree murder after the shooting on Damasaukas' wedding night.

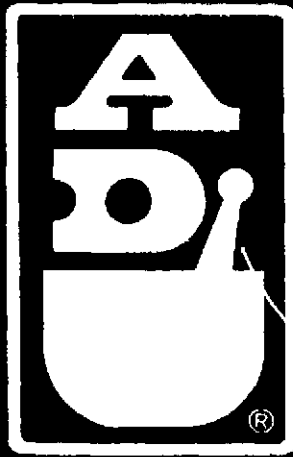

Deputy County Atty. Michael McGill had said Damasaukas and several members of his wedding party apparently argued with Dutcher and his brother, Dennis, 28, over a traffic incident.

Fairmont Elects Two To Council

Lincoln Star Special
Fairmont — In a special election held here Tuesday, Francis L. Jacobsen and Marvin E. Eifert were elected to the Fairmont City Council to fill two vacancies.

It is believed that this is the first special election held to fill vacancies on the city council for a second class city in Nebraska. Generally vacancies are filled by the council.

Jacobsen will replace Lyle W. Wettstead, who moved out of Fairmont, while Eifert will fill the vacancy created by Harold H. Hurst, who resigned for health and personal reasons.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
